MONSTER CLOUD OF GREAT STRIKE MENACES NATION

Whether 400,000 Employes Will Strike Depends on Whether Brotherhoods Will Accept Nation's Offer of Mediation.

Leaders Now Debating Proposal Which Seems Only Method of Adjustment.

UNION HELD OFF

By Associated Press Dispatch.

NEW YORK, AUGUST 9.—WHETHER THE THREATENED STRIKE OF 400,000 RAILWAY EMPLOYES THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES WOULD BE AVERTED THROUGH MEDIATION OF THE FEDERAL BOARD OF MEDIATION AND CONCILIATION DEPENDED AT NOON TODAY UPON WHETHER THE RAILROAD BROTHERHOODS WOULD BE WILLING TO ACCEPT THE SERVICES OF THAT BODY.

DEMANDS REJECTED

New York, August 9.—The National Conference of Railroad Managers today again rejected the demands of the four railroad brotherhoods for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime and proposed submission of their differences with the men to the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliatin.

This proposal, A. B. Garretson, in behalf of the brotherhoods, rejected.

Mr. Garretson, reiterating the contention of the brotherhoods that in previous attempts to settle differences with the railroads through the federal board the brotherhoods had failed to obtain satisfactory awards, said that the union believed they could reach a settlement by dealing directly with the roads.

Judge W. L. Chambers, Chairman of the National Board of Mediation and Conciliation, announced later that the railroads had formally appealed to the board to mediate their differences with the union.

The board immediately prepared a communication to the brotherhoods offering its services, which, it was announced, would be dispatched to the brotherhood chiefs at once.

Meantime it was stated the board would remain in session to await the brotherhoods' reply.

It was indicated by members of the board that the communication was being sent on the assumption that the brotherhoods would accept their offer. A reply was expected before one o'clock today, it was said.

Candidate Arrives in St. Paul Showing Effect of Unusual Work.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

St. Paul, Minn., August 9.—The strain of unaccutsomed campaigning had told upon Charles E. Hughes when he reached here today. He was fatigued and his voice was hoarse.

The throat specialist accompanying him urged him to save his voice for the Twin City meeting, and Mr. Hughes consequently refrained, except in one instannce, from making back-platform speeches at five scheduled stops in Minnesota before reaching this city.

STRIKERS KEPT WITHIN LAW'S LIMITS IN THE BIG NEW YORK CAR STRIKE

NEW YORK CAR STRIKE.-"HUSTLING" AND ARRESTING STRIKERS

New York's car strike, which threatened to tie up all the transportation systems of the city, surface and overhead, began with few manifestations of disorder. There were, however, a few cases of rioting promptly checked by the police. Frank Lord, deputy police commissioner, told a meeting of strikers that union men had as much right as other citizens to ride on street cars, and that there was no law to prevent them from soliciting motormen and conductors to join the union and quit work so long as there was no effort at intimidation. He said the policemen on the cars would not interfere with that right. He also praised the rderly methods of the union. Some high police officials complained that trolley officials seemed to be hysterical and had called for help to quell imaginary disorders. There was so little disorder at one time that many of the policemen who had been mobilized at about a hundred points in the danger zone were allowed to go home. Department heads figured that they could guard all power houses, barns and cars.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, August 9.—The new gains of the Allies on the Somme front, in northern France, are being held firmly in the face of heavy counter attacks by the Germans, according to the Paris official statement today.

Two such attacks, delivered last night on the positions recently taken by the French north of Helm Wood, are declared to have been repulsed.

Northeast of Verdun, the bitter struggle for the Thiaumont work and the village of Fleury is continuing.

The Germans have driven further into the Thiaumont positions, and only its outskirts are now held by the French, says the official statement from Paris.

In the Fleury sector, however, General Nivelle's forces have been more successful, making some progress in the village.

Officials here confirm news dispatches to the effect that Gorizia is entirely in the hands of the Italians who captured 10,000 Austrians.

New York, August 9.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis broke all previous records here today.

The plague killed 57 children during the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m., and 183 new cases were reported to the Health Department.

The greatest number of cases was reported from Toledo, where 33 victims have been attacked.

POLITICAL UPSETS VERY FEW

Meager Reports Received at State Headquarters Do Not Indicate Any Developments Unexpected By Wiseacres.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, AUGUST 9.—SUCH MEAGRE REPORTS AS WERE RECEIVED HERE TODAY FROM YESTERDAY'S STATE WIDE PRIMARY DID NOT INDICATE ANY UNEXPECTED POLITICAL UPSET.

THE LEADERS OF THE TWO DOMINANT PARTIES WILL BE GOVERNOR FRANK B. WILLIS, REPUBLICAN, AND FORMER GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX, DEMOCRAT. THEY WON THE NOMINATIONS IN THEIR RESPECTIVE PARTIES WITHOUT DIFFICULTY.

The nomination for United States Senator on the Republican ticket went to Myron T. Herrick, of Cleveland, and by a good majority. His nearest opponent, Harry M. Daugherty, of Columbus, polled only a small vote.

Senator Atlee Pomerene was renominated by the Democrats. John J. Lentz of Columbus, who made the race against Pomerene, received a light vote.

Contests for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General and for the Republican nomination for Auditor of State were the only enlivening features of the state primary.

Until the official vote is counted, or more complete unofficial returns are received, it will be uncertain whether Joseph McGhee, of Jackson, or Scott Stahl, of Port Clinton, will make the race for Attorney General on the Democratic ticket.

McGhee carried Franklin county three to one, and also had a good lead in Cuyahoga county. On the strength of his vote in these two counties, he claimed the nomination.

The big vote accorded Hayes M. Adams, of Sandusky, for the Republican nomination for State Auditor was a surprise for the politicians. Joseph T. Tracy, of Portsmouth, was believed to be certain of nomination.

The vote for Adams is attributed to the fact that his name headed the list on the primary ballot, as the names are arranged in alphabetical order.

Although some organization leaders are credited with having opposed the re-nomination of Lieutenant Governor John H. Arnold, of Columbus, he defeated his opponent, Abram Agler with little difficulty.

Agler received a two to one vote over Arnold in Hamilton county, but in other counties Arnld had big majorities which easily offset the Hamilton county result.

E. J. Hopple, of Cleveland, was nominated as Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket.

Columbus, Aug. 9.—James M. Cox of Dayton was renominated for governor over A. P. Sandles of Ottawa and J. C. Martin of Greenville, in the Democratic primaries yesterday. Late returns indicate that Cox will have a majority of all votes cast for governor. Atlee Pomerene of Canton was renominated for United States senator over John J. Lentz of Columbus.

The Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor probably is E. J. Hopple, a state senator of Cleveland, who received support from the organization. His opponents were Earl D. Bloom of Bowling Green, D. L. Sutter of Cleveland and George W. Tooil of Columbus.

Thornton R. Snyder of Cincinnati, who had organization support, was nominated for secretary of state. Snyder's opponents were Carl F. Anteman of Hamilton, William D. Fulton of Newark, Colin C. Meekison of Napoleon, John Henry Newman of Columbus and William A. Weygandt of Wooster.

A. V. Donahey of New Philadelphia, state auditor, had no opposition among Democrats for renomination for state auditor.

For treasurer of state the nomination went to Chester E. Bryan of London, who had no opposition.

Joseph McGhee of Jackson, Democratic nominee two years ago, made a game fight for the nomination for attorney general, but, it is thought, was beaten by Scott Stahl of Port Clinton. There was a third candidate, W. J. Schenck of Bucyrus.

For the Democratic nominations for supreme judge, no one opposed the incumbents for renomination, Judges M. H. Donahue of New Lexington and James G. Johnson of Springfield.

The total vote cast throughout the state was light. Over twice as many Republicans as Democrats turned out.

ATLEE POMERENE

Renominated by Democrats For United States Senator.

CUYAHOGA'S ONE WAY VOTE

(By American Press)

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—Returns from Cuyahoga county show that Governor Willis and Colonel Herrick on the Republican ticket have carried the county by an overwhelming majority. Former Governor James M. Cox and Senator Pomerene (Dem.) also made it a runaway race in the county, easily outdistancing their opponents. Wilgordon in the Twentieth and Robert Crosser in the Twenty-first district were nominated for congress by the Democrats. Eugene Quigley won the Republican congressional nomination in the Twentieth.

STRONG TALK

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Charles E. Hughes told an audience that crowded Chicago's great coliseum what he would do if elected president of the United States. He charged the present administration with waste, extravagance and vacillation. He declared that it had not kept the country out of war, but that it had fought an ignominous war in Mexico and had withdrawn from that war ignominously. He charged the administration with having brought the country much nearer to participation in the European war than the country would have been had the administration "stood for American rights." He declared that it was no more possible to expect tariff protection to American industries from a Democratic congress than it would be to get "a revival sermon out of a disorderly house."

The nominee assailed the administration also for its appointments to office and declared that if elected he would appoint to office only men who were well qualified.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Myron T. Herrick, Cleveland.
For Governor—
Frank B. Willis, Ada.
For Lieutenant Governor—
John H. Arnold, Columbus.
For Secretary of State—
Charles Q. Hildebrant, Wilmington.
For Auditor of State—
Hayes M. Adams, Sandusky.
For State Treasurer—

For Attorney General—
Edward C. Turner, Columbus.
For Supreme Court—
A. N. Summers, Springfield.
Cyrus Newby, Hillsboro.
For Court of Appeals—
Moses B. Earnhart, Columbus.

Columbus, Aug. 9.—Primary returns show that Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland defeated Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, ex-Senator Charles Dick of Akron and E. E. Cassell of Richland county for nomination for United States senator.

Frank B. Willis of Ada was renominated for governor by the Republicans over Rudolph W. Mack of Cincinnati and George W. Shaw of Cleveland.

Both Herrick and Willis scored notable victories. Herrick may have a majority of all votes cast in the senatorial race. He said he thought he had been nominated 3 to 1.

Reports from cities indicate that Lieutenant Governor John H. Arnold, Republican, may be beaten for renomination by Abram W. Agler, attorney of Canton. Returns from Cincinnati, where Agler was indorsed by the county central committee, showed him leading over Arnold, a dry, about 3 to 1. Stark county, Agler's home county, showed a similar ratio.

FRANK B. WILLIS.

Charles Q. Hildebrant of Wilmington had no opposition for renomination for secretary of state.

The Republican nomination for auditor was hotly contested. Joseph T. Tracy of Portsmouth, at present a deputy in the auditor's office under Donahey, had organized support at Cincinnati, and also to an extent at Cleveland. In the latter city, the party leaders were divided between Tracy and Jacob J. Wise of Massillon. Other candidates for auditor were Hayes M. Adams of Sandusky, George C. Braden of Warren, Charles D. Conover of Urbana, Stephen A. Stilwell of Lebanon. Late returns indicate the nomination of Adams.

Rudolph W. Archer of Bellaire, Republican, was renominated without opposition for treasurer of state.

Edward C. Turner of Columbus had no opposition and was renominated for attorney general.

James Joyce, Cambridge, former congressman, is leading for the Republican nomination for the supreme court. Either Cyrus Newby, Hillsboro, for twenty-five years a common pleas judge, or Augustus N. Summers, former judge of the supreme court, will be second. The other Republican candidates were J. G. Obermyre, Columbus, former clerk of the supreme court, and Willis Vickery, Cleveland, common pleas judge in Cuyahoga county.

A light vote was cast throughout the state.

HOME DOING GREAT WORK

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—An institution in this city that receives much praise for its work is the Friends Rescue Home where unfortunate girls are cared for. Here their babies are looked after and given a temporary home and the mothers are housed until they can obtain honest employment or a good home. The girls are taught cooking sewing and other domestic arts which they find of great advantage after leaving the home.

Through the training provided at this institution seventy-five percent of the girls received "turn out well" according to Miss Evangeline Reams in charge of the home.

The home was founded eleven years ago on a capital of five dollars. Miss Reams rented a house in Harris avenue and opened her doors to girls who had no other place to go. Last January with aid of public contributions it was possible to move to more commodious quarters. These now are again outgrown and Miss Reams is trying to obtain funds with which to enlarge the building.

A total of 499 girls have been cared for at the home since its foundation. Ninety girls were received last year, 49 babies being brought into the world. Since January 7, 1916 forty-seven girls have been received, and the capacity number—19, is now being cared for. An average of four applications for admission are received every week.

WILL RETURN BATTLE FLAG

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Newark, O., Aug. 9.—The battle-scarred flag of the Seventy-sixth Ohio Volunteer Infantry lost in a hard fight with the "Johnnies" at Ringgold Gap, Ga., more than fifty years ago is to be returned to the survivors of the regiment at its annual reunion to be held here Sept. 26.

The Seventy-sixth was ambushed at Ringgold Gap by the Confererates and sustained heavy losses before retreating. Every color bearer of the regiment, save one, Sargeant Montgomery, was killed. The flag was captured by the First Alabama Remiment which charged the Buckeye soldiers who in the face of superior numbers were forced to flee.

The flag will be brought north by a committee consisting of Governor Elect C. H. Brough of Arkansas and Colonel J. R. Gibbons commander of Omer R. Weaver Camp No. 354, United Confederate Veterans, of Little Rock Ark. Governor-elect Brough is a nephew of John Brough one of Ohio's Civil War governors. His mother was a native of the south while his father was a soldier in the Union army. He has taken an active part in the negotiations for the return of the flag.

Speaking for the representatives of the regiment that captured the flag, Governor-elect Brough will turn the emblem over to Governor Willis who will acept it on behalf of the Buckeye state. Sergeant Montgomery, surviving color bearer of the regiment, who resides in Newark will receive the banner on behalf of the regiment.

The Seventy-sixth was recruited in this vicinity.

He said he did not favor the initiative, referendum and recall, that he would not uphold it in his campaign speeches, and, if elected, he would oppose its enactment into a law.

Contrary to Law

Every "once in a while" we hear of a judge who has the courage to go direct from cause to effect and mete out punishment to an offender, and at the same time a proper and entirely practical redress for injuries done.

To take a short cut judges are compelled to brush aside the meaningless forms and unnecessary delays of law.

The encouraging thing is that now days we hear of more judges who have that kind of courage and more lawyers who refuse to undertake the task of reversing such action by the court.

A recent case illustrating the tendency is to be found in the action of Judge Fawcett of the Brooklyn county court.

Two strikers faced Judge Fawcett a few days ago charged with inflicting such severe injuries upon a man who refused to join the strike that the victim was compelled to go to the hospital for a month, resulting in his family being evicted from their humble home for non-payment of rent.

Judge Fawcett "according to law" could have held the men to the grand jury. After a long time they might have been indicted and then after another long delay and a tedious trial might have been convicted and sent to prison for a term.

But Judge Fawcett didn't proceed according to law. He told the ruffians that if they would pay the man they assaulted one hundred dollars cash and give bond to pay him fifteen dollars a week until he was able to go back to work, he would release them. They did as Judge Fawcett suggested, were saved the disgrace of serving a prison term and the victim received benefits in spite of the law.

Men like Judge Fawcett are pioneers in a great movement. Some of these days we are going to have more common sense included in our laws and then there will be fewer offenses and more real and more speedy remedy.

The Golden Rod

The prolonged drouth and hot spell will doubtless bring forward the fall flowers this year sooner than they usually make their appearance.

Like the flowers of spring those of the autumn season have a charm, an appropriateness and an individuality all their own.

One of the most beautiful of the flowers which wave the farewell to summer and one which man makes the least attempt to domesticate and improve is the golden rod.

The following from The Philadelphia North American is instructive and eulogistic of the beautiful flower which grows in such riotous profusion and beauty in so many sections of the United States:

"Many botanists and lovers of flowers have claimed for the goldenrod the right to be called the national flower, because of its abundance, wide distribution and showy qualities. The goldenrod reaches its glory with the aster and crysanthemum, and all three belong to the remarkable composite family. While the crysanthemum and aster are more pleasing in their cultivated forms, the goldenrod revels in its natural, wild beauty, lingering into the golden days of October. Though native in all temperate climes, the species are most numerous in North America. At least seventy-five different species are found in the United States. Rich soil of course is the greatest desire of the goldenrod. However, it will make the most of whatever opportunity it has and refuses to die, even when the soil is poor and dry.

The Glorious Rains

The rains of Sunday afternoon and Tuesday morning, no matter whether they are called by the weather bureau authorities only local showers or dignified by the much more comprehensive term of general rains, have been of almost inestimable value to men and crops in this section.

It is amazing to observe how quickly the vegetation responds to the kindly touch of nature. The parched brown lawns which, to all appearances, are dead beyond recall, leap into life again within a few hours.

Every blade of corn, every leaf and every blade of grass instantly wheels into action and "mobilizes" every drop of water that falls from the heavens, conveying it safely, certainly and with a minimum of waste to the thirsty plant roots until the basic reservoirs are filled.

Just what these showers mean, in dollars and cents, cannot be exaggerated.

The results of these break ups, after long dry spells, are immediately pleasing and ultimately profitable to man and beast and every growing living thing.

They make us realize that no matter how discouraged we get nature never forgets us.

Poetry For Today

FAT MAN SOLILOQUIZES.

That's right, laugh,
Laugh long and loud,
You long, lean, lank, attenuated specimen of humanity,
Who cannot cast a shadow
And who shivers to death in the winter
And regards us fat folks then with keenest envy.
Laugh, doggone you, laugh!
Have a good time;
Crack your ribs.
It's your turn now—
Go head.
Give us the equine ha-ha!
Laugh, doggone you,
Laugh!

Laugh, while you can;
Chuckle, grin, giggle,
Point your long, bony finger at the upholstered frame
And smile at this all too solid flesh.
Your period of merriment is brief,
Then will come the north wind,
Crackling around your sylph-like frame,
Beating a tattoo upon your spare-ribs;
And your knees will rattle,
Even sa the endman's bones,
And you will shiver
Like unto the aspen.
Then, doggone you,
We'll laugh.

KITTENS DISPLACE LAP DOGS.

Paris Actresses Carry Tabbies to Bois de Boulogne.

London.—The Parisienne is forsaking her lap dog of former days and taking to the kitten as a pet, according to the Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette.

The correspondent does not attempt to say whether the change is due to hard times, to the doubled dog tax or merely to an inexplicable whim of the moment. He says:

"Actresses whose popularity is sufficient to shield them from the reproach of seeking a new form of personal advertisement have lately taken to frequenting the Bois de Boulogne at the fashionable parade hour with the dearest of little tabbies snuggling roguishly in their arms or gamboling riotously round and about them."

The Only One Lacking.

"Because," replied the discouraged fat man, "if there was I'd have it."

Elkus, the new ambassador to Turkey, succeeding Henry Morgenthau, has long been one of the foremost lawyers in New York city, and as counsel to the state factory investigating committee was active in bringing about much remedial legislation in New York state. The medical aspect of factory legislation is treated by Mr. Elkus in an address delivered before the Society of Medical Jurisdiction in New York.

Whether there is to be a new era of physical health and well being for the great mass of our people, those who toil in the mills and mines, in our factories, workshops and other industrial establishments, depends in a substantial measure, Mr. Elkus said, upon the interest that the medical profession, as such, will take in the near future in matters of factory legislation and social reform generally. He went on to define a field for practical reform, which so far has been ignored entirely. He said:

"There are some men and women, and their number seems to be increasing, who are not able, because of physical or mental defects, to do any kind of work or to work for regular hours every day or whose employment has to be selected to fit their particular type. These are generally classified as subnormal persons. This does not mean—as physicians know—that they are insane or idiotic or unable to care for themselves. They need some assistance in caring for themselves so that they do not become an absolute burden upon the people at large.

"What greater work could be done than to employ competent physicians to make a study of these subnormal unfortunates and to establish factories under competent medical supervision where they could be put to work suited to their needs, where their health could be studied and improved and they themselves restored to the great body politic as healthy men and women?"

RECRUITS GAIN WEIGHT.

Company of U. S. Marine Corps Benefit by Training in South Carolina.

Port Royal, S. C.—Plain, wholesome food, fresh air and regular hours caused the recruits of the Ninth drill company of the United States marine corps, in training at the recruit depot here, to gain almost seven pounds per man in weight after fourteen weeks of instruction. This company of fifty-six men weighed upon enlistment 8,076 pounds, and at the end of fourteen weeks' training it increased to 8,467 pounds, a gain of 391 pounds.

This same company had a chest capacity upon enlistment of 11,909 cubic inches and after fourteen weeks had increased it to 13,295 cubic inches, a gain of 1,386 cubic inches. The physical gain of this company was 38 per cent.

WEDDING CALLED OFF.

Prospective Bride and Groom Used Pictures of Movie Stars.

Hagerstown, N. D.—Because they resorted to the deception of sending each other photographs of moving picture stars Miss Esther Gulbranson of Minneapolis and William Benjamin failed to recognize each other when they met in Hagerstown according to appointment to be married.

"No wonder I did not recognize him," Miss Gulbranson said.

She had received, she said, a picture of a famous movie star, while Mr. Benjamin said the photograph he got through the mail was that of a screen beauty famous the world over. The romance began through a matrimonial paper. The marriage was called off.

RAPID FIRING GUNS.

Hurling a Tornado of Death Into the Ranks of the Enemy.

Since the introduction of the modern quick firing gun and the perfection of "time" shrapnel and high explosive shells new and scientific methods of rapid firing have been developed. When a rapid and overwhelming fire is wanted, the range is found, and the ground within the limits of the prescribed area is swept from end to end with a tornado of fire.

In the French army this is called a rafale (a squall or gust). It is a series of eight rounds per gun, each two rounds being laid to burst 100 yards farther than the last, thus sweeping an area of say 400 yards with a rain of shrapnel or a devastating series of high explosive shells. "Sweeping" fire is a series of three rounds per gun, one in the original line, one to the right and one to the left. This is also, and significantly, called "mowing." A further combination is called "search and sweep."

Time was when the commander of a battery stood near his guns and shouted commands to his gunners. Today the artillery officer may be two or three miles away directing operations by telephone from an observation post in view of the enemy's works. The observatory may be a ruined house, a tree trunk, a shell crater or a haystack, and from this point he observes the accuracy of the fire of his battery and telephones instructions to the gunners in the rear, altering the range when necessary and communicating any enemy movements, so that the shells soon find a new mark.

Instruments of precision and careful calculations are of course necessary to fight a battery in this manner, many allowances having to be made for the difference in height, distance and angle between the battery commander and the guns under his charge.—Exchange.

Circumstantial Evidence.

The following instance of conclusive circumstantial evidence came to light in a case in which Lord Chancellor Eldon was employed on circuit. In later years he related it to one of his daughters in these words:

"I have heard some very extraordinary cases of murder trials. I remember in one, where I was counsel, for a long time the evidence did not appear to touch the prisoner at all, and he looked about him with the most perfect unconcern, seeming to think himself quite safe.

"At last the surgeon was called, who stated that the deceased had been killed by a shot—a gunshot—in the head, and he produced the matted hair and stuff cut from and taken out of the wound. It was all hardened with blood. A basin of warm water was brought into court, and as the blood was gradually softened a piece of printed paper appeared—the wadding of the gun—which proved to be half of a ballad.

"The other half had been found in the man's pocket when he was taken. He was hanged."

The Three Scutaris.

There are three places named Scutari—one in Albania, one opposite to Constantinople and one in southern Greece. It is curious that each name comes from a different original form. The Greek Scutari is otherwise Scatari, the Albanian one is the Illyrian Scodra, and the Asiatic one is the Turkish Uskudar. This last means a courier carrying royal orders from station to station and commemorates the fact that this place, the ancient Chrysopolis or City of Gold was the starting point of the Asiatic couriers.

Patriarch or Prophet.

A man approached a stand upon which some questionable looking fowls were offered for sale. "What will you sell them for?" he asked of a shrewd, gray bearded farmer. "I sell them for profits," answered the individual. "Is that so?" answered the customer in feigned surprise. "I'm glad to know they are prophets. I took them for patriarchs."—Exchange.

The result of the race between Wood and Hiser, Democratic candidates, was uncertain.

In Ross county, Murrell received 1,013 votes; Tippett, 1,055; Hiser, 601, and Wood, 999. In Fayette Murrell polled 659; Tippett 620; Hiser, 182; Wood, 141. Actual figures from the other counties were unavailable.

TWO VOTES BY ONE MAN

Flushing Contract Swung Late This Afternoon By Dual Capacity oi One Offlcial.

At a meeting of the Board of Control, consisting of Mayor Oster and Safety-Service Director James Hillery, held shortly before four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Hillery made a motion that the contract for flushing be awarded to Tom Hillery.

Mayor Oster cast a vote against the proposal and nearly fell off his chair when Safety-Service Director Hillery cast two votes for the proposal—one as Safety Director and one as Service Director.

STREET PAVING JOBS AWARDED

At a lengthy meeting of the Board of Control, Tuesday afternoon the paving contracts of Fayette, Ogle and Delaware and North Main streets were awarded.

The Fayette street job, by far the larger of the three, was awarded to Bolan, Wilt and Kelly at approximately $27,066, and Trimble square-edged blocks are to be used. A bond of $25,000 was required.

The Ogle and Delaware streets job was awarded to Heffner & Son at approximately $3,851, and Trimble blocks will be used.

On North Main street the job was awarded to The Andrews Asphalt Paving Company at a little above $4,000.

The work on the two streets to be paved with brick will be taken up at once and finished this fall.

Work on South Fayette street will begin this week or next.

SANITATION ORDERS ARE SENT FORTH

Health Officer Byron Declares War on Everything Unsanitary and Orders Dairies, Restaurants and Meat Dealers to Exercise Care—Permits Are Necessary.

Stringent orders have been issued by Health Officer John W. Byron, who is now devoting virtually all of his time to sanitation, and more healthful food and surroundings in the city.

Health Officer Byron has just issued the following statement, which will be of widespread interest:

Dairies must at all times be kept in a sanitary condition. Milk must be handled clean and sold clean.

"The Dairyman who fails to come up to the standard required by the Health laws will have his Milk supply shut off from entering the city.

"Permits from the Health department will be issued to all Milk and Meat dealers and all sub-dealers or street peddlers of Meats, Fish, Etc. will be compelled to produce a Board of Health permit and proof of where they obtained their supply and if their stock does not stand inspection, the whole cargo will be taken to the city dump and the violator given the opportunity of contributing to the Sanitary fund.

"We will also require that all restaurants, hotels, eating houses and places where Milk is sold or furnished shall not remove the top or butter fat nor adulterate in any manner, but shall furnish to the public Milk as it comes from the Dairy.

"No excuse will be taken for leaving manure and garbage to accumulate in alleys, yards and other places. Garbage cans with a cover for garbage and closed bins for manure. There is no need of side-stepping these issues, repeated warnings have been sent out. The Health laws are broad and sweeping and will be used to get results.

"The city has provided a dump ground for all accumulations which belong only in a place of that kind.

"No further notice will be given as to the dumping of manure, garbage, refuse and unsanitaary matter along roadways in vacant lots etc. The first one caught in an act of this kind will get the limit.

"A general clean up of the city is ordered and the quicker we get to it the better.

"The Health department is ready at all times to receive complaints of Unsanitary conditions and w'll work hand in hand with the public for a clean and Sanitary city, but if results cannot be obtained in this maner laws will be enforced and that without delay.

JNO. W. BYRON,
Health Officer.

CLAIM WILT BID UNFAIR

Flushing Contract Held Up Because Word "Cleaning" Does Not Appear in Bid of Wilt—Solicitor Gregg Decides Term Not Necessary and Bid Is Legal.

Failure to agree upon awarding the flushing contract, on the part of the Board of Control, is said to be due to the wording of the bid submitted by J. S. Wilt, which does not include the term "cleaning" mentioned in the other bids. Other contractors contend that the bid was for flushing only, and does not mention "cleaning," and that if they had bid on flushing only they could have submitted a lower bid.

Contractor Wilt contends that his bid was for the entire job, and so informed council, and expressed a readiness to proceed accordingly.

Wilt's bid reads: "As per advertisement, I make the following bids on flushing streets and avenues."

The bids of Hillery and Hess & Maddox read: "Flushing and cleaning as per specifications." The bid of Head reads: "cleaning and flushing" but does not say according to specifications.

The specifications, headed, "Specifications for flushing and cleaning certain streets etc," contains the following proviso as to the bid:

"A bid stating the price per square yard that he (or they) agree to furnish flusher, water, teams, tools and do necessary work to thoroughly clean the streets and avenues named below, in a good workman like manner and leave each and every street or avenue clean and in a sanitary condition after each flushing."

The advertisement calling for bids reads:

"For furnishing the necessary labor and materials for flushing the paved streets of the city for a period of five years, in accordance with an ordinance heretofore passed for that purpose, and according to the plans and specifications therefor on file in this office."

Solicitor Gregg, when asked for his opinion as to the legality of the Wilt bit, stated that he believed it was a legal bid and should be so treated, and called attention to Wilt's expressed willingness to sign a contract to conform with the specifications, and proceed with the work.

And so the matter rests, and will again come before council at the adjourned session next Monday night.

DEEP INTEREST IN ICE PLANT CASE

Quite a number of Jeffersonville citizens, in addition to some 18 witnesses subpoenaed from that place, assembled at the court house Wednesday, to hear the case of J. W. Howard against the Straley Garage Company, the action growing out of damage alleged to have been inflicted upon plaintiff's property by reason of the proximity of the ice plant in Jeffersonville.

The plaintiff's witnesses were all examined and plaintiff rested, early Wednesday afternoon, after which one of the defendants, George Straley, was placed upon the stand.

The Plaintiff's witnesses were: James Todd, Leonard Charles, G. A. Scott, Ernest Thornton, J. H. Sturges, Cora Tyree, Ora Sprague, Chas. Woodson, Mrs. Herbert Vannorsdall and Mrs. Joe Lanum.

Defendant's witnesses were: Eli Smith, O. J. Glaze, Joe Lanum, A. G. Blessing, Losson Day, Herbert Vannorsdall, Will Sprenger, Geo. Straley.

Plaintiff was represented by Gregg, Patton & Gregg, and defendant by John Logan.

It was expected all evidence would be submitted Wednesday afternoon.

WHEAT JUMPS 10C ON BUSHEL TODAY

The price of wheat in this city followed the big jump in Chicago, Wednesday, and at one bound went frm $1.28 to $1.38 per bushel—one of the biggest jumps ever recorded in this city in one day.

JUDGE ALLEN HERE TUESDAY

Probate Judge Rell G. Allen came down from Camp Willis, Columbus, Tuesday, to vote and to dispose of some matters specially assigned in Court.

The Judge's six weeks or more of service as Major of the 4th Regiment has made him as brown as a berry and so far as appearances go, as fit as a fiddle. He says he is enjoying the vigorous work of camp life and feels better physically than for some time.

Asked as to camp life and the prospects of the Ohio troops being sent to the border for service, Judge Allen, instantly took on an attitude of military reticence and there was nothing beyond the generalities to be gathered from him on those matters.

Asked as to his intentions politically Judge Allen asserted that he would be a candidate for re-election to the office of Probate Judge this fall, at the general election on the judicial ticket.

Many friends throughout the county noted the fact that Judge Allen was not a candidate in the primaries and 100 went so far as to write his name on the ballot, forgetting for the moment that candidates for judicial positions are voted for upon a separate ballot at the general election.

PRESBYTERIANS ENJOY PICNIC

The annual Presbyterian picnic, known this year as the Union Picnic of the First Presbyterian church and the McNair Memorial church, was held Wednesday afternoon on the beautiful Cherry Hill school grounds, where a fine grove offered ideal surroundings for just such a pleasant affair.

Some three hundred members of the two churches assembled on the grounds where games and swings were started by the children, and where the grown-ups proceeded to enjoy themselves in genuine picnic fashion.

At the noon hour dozens of bulging baskets were opened and all partook of a big picnic dinner, spread in the cool shade of the big trees on Cherry Hill.

A pleasant feature f the jolly affair was the presence of Superintendent and Mrs. Pinkerton, and their charges of the county Children's Home, they having responded to an invitation extended by both Sunday schools and churches, and no one enjoyed the picnic quite as much as the little boys and girls of the Home. All joined in the pleasurable task of seeing that the county charges really had the time of their lives, and the indications were that they did have it.

The picnic was one of the most enjoyable of any similar event ever held by the society.

"JAPLAND," SEASON'S NEWEST OFFERING

"Japland," one of the largest traveling organizations, employing the joint services of John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels in its entirety, also a complete caste for opera, a girl chorus of twenty, concert band, and double symphony orchestra, will be seen at the Empire Theatre, Friday, August 11. The book deals with the world's tour of a famous grand opera company which encounters opposition at Tokio with an American minstrels. An informal reception in their honor is held in the tea garden of the Mikado, the band and orchestra of Vogel's Big Minstrels furnishing the music for the occasion. A grand double performance in the form of an out-of-doors Cabaret is the result of the meeting, the artists of both combinations endeavoring to outdo the other that the Mikado and his suit be entertained in royal American fashion. The minstrels give their first-part in costume, and the operatic contingent sing selections from the many compositions in their vast repertoire, the number including a duet from "Pinafore," trio from "Iolanthe", the Swan Song from "Lohengrin", "Three Little Maids" from "The Mikado" and the Sextette from "Lucia". The specialties from the minstrel olio prevent monotony and the beautiful girl chorus lures the hearts of the Japanese onlookers with captivating tangoing gyrations and pretty gowns.

The play is in two acts and fourteen scenes—all caried by the company—and is pictorially, as well as for gorgeous costuming, a grand spectacle entirely worth while, superior in every way to that seen with the average road show. advt

CAPTURE AUSTRIAN FORTRESS

Italians In Possession of Goritz Bridgehead.

CAPTURE 8,000 PRISONERS

Drive by Russians In Southeastern Galicia Nets the Slavs Gains On a Seventeen Mile Front—Thiaumont Work In Verdun Sector Captured by Germans—Allied Advance Made In Somme Region.

London, Aug. 9.—The allies have made important gains on two fronts.

Official announcement was made at Rome that the Italian forces captured the Goritz bridgehead, which the Austrians have held with the greatest stubbornness for more than a year.

It was Italy's greatest victory since the opening of the Austro-Italian war. The bridgehead is held to be the key to the city of Trieste.

At the same time it was announced that Monte Sabotino and Monte St. Michele, scenes of almost equally bloody fighting and strongly fortified Austrian positions, have fallen before the new Italian offensive on the Isonzo front. Over 8,000 Austrian prisoners, including 200 officers, were captured.

Italian artillery is now shelling Goritz itself, and is driving the enemy out of houses just west of the city, it was officially announced. The fall of the fortress is considered by Italian military officers to be imminent.

German troops recaptured the strongly fortified Thiaumont work northeast of Verdun, it was officially announced at the French war office. A bloody battle is still raging around the redoubt.

Following a night of terrific bombardment, the Germans directed five violent attacks against the French positions from Fleury village to the Thiaumont position. Very large forces were employed in these attacks.

At Fleury village the Germans were completely repulsed, suffering heavily. By repeated onslaughts a Teutonic force finally fought its way into the Thiaumont work, which was recaptured last week by the French in their counter offensive. The French immediately counter attacked.

A drive by the Russians against the Austro-German front in southeastern Galicia netted the Slavs the most important gain made by the allies in more than a fortnight of fighting. The czar's troops broke out with a heavy drive westward against the important Galician city of Stanislau. They attacked on a seventeen mile front, crumpling in the Austro-German line and capturing the town of Tlumacz, fifteen miles southeast of Stanislau, and surrounding heights.

The German war office admitted retirement on a front of nearly fifteen miles.

Further north the Russians continued their advance along the Sereth river. The Russian war office announced the capture of more than 8,000 men in the Sereth fighting of Saturday and Sunday. The German war office also announced resumption of heavy fighting in the region east of Kovel.

British troops, in conjunction with the French, moved forward in an advance on the village of Guillemont, north of the Somme.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Falling off in crop prospects amounting to many millions of dollars' loss to farmers of the country were indicated in the department of agriculture's August report. Wheat showed a loss from the July forecast of 105,000,000 bushels, corn 89,000,000 bushels, oats 43,000,000 bushels, barley 11,000,000 bushels, and there were decreases in rye, white and sweet potatoes, flax, apples and peaches. A heavy reduction of the indicated production of cotton previously had been reported. Corn, the nation's greatest crop, is in a serious condition from drought, and if rain does not come soon the yield will be smaller than the forecast just announced, which was 2,777,000 bushels.

Upper: MARTIN A. KNAPP AND W. W. HANGER. Insert: W. L. CHAMBERS

President Wilson decided that he would make no move toward preventing the prospective strike of 400,000 railway trainmen until after it had been shown that the railroad conference committee of managers and the representatives of railway brotherhoods, meeting in New York on August 8, was unable to harmonize the differences growing out of the demands of the brotherhoods. President Wilson's deep interest in the effort to prevent the big strike was indicated when he sent for Judge William L. Chambers commissioner of the board of mediation and conciliation and asked him to explain the situation in detail. The two other members of the board are Martin A. Knapp and W. W. Hanger.

94 PER CENT FAVOR STRIKE

Heads of the Railway Brotherhoods Announce the Result.

New York, Aug. 9.—At a meeting of the heads of the four great railroad brotherhoods it was announced that about 94 per cent of the trainmen voted in favor of a strike to win an eight hour day, with time and a half for overtime in freight service.

The count represents the decision of about 400,000 railway employes of 225 roads, with a total mileage of about 250,000 miles, or practically every line in the United States.

After listening to the results of the vote, Elisha Lee, head of the railroad managers, was asked by A. B. Garretson, as spokesman for the employes, whether he had any definite proposition to make. Lee replied he had nothing to say; had no authority to make any offer of any kind and that there was nothing to do but adjourn and allow representatives of the railroads to discuss the results of the vote.

It was announced that 98.72 per cent of the engineers in the southwestern district had voted in favor of a strike, 90.35 per cent in the western district and in the eastern district 94.64 per cent. W. S. Carter, head of the firemen's organization, announced that 98.1 per cent of his men had cast their ballots in favor of a strike. W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen's brotherhood, announced a vote of 97 per cent in favor of a strike, and President A. B Garretson of the conductors' organization stated that about 85 per cent of the 34,846 men who voted favored a strike.

Conferences will be held, beginning today, between representatives of the railroads and the employes in an effort to reach an agreement. It was admitted by both sides that there is little possibility of an immediate strike.

MISSOURI COUPLE MARRIED SEVENTY-TWO YEARS

Have Nearly 100 Living Descendants, Among Them Several of Fourth Generation.

Clinton, Mo.—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nutt of Clinton were married seventy-two years ago in Ohio, the state of their nativity. She is ninety-one and he almost ninety-two years old. After their marriage they spent some time in Illinois.

They have 135 descendants, nearly 100 living, including several great great-granchildren. They are the parents of twelve children.

Nutt has always had poor health, but his wife, despite the fact that a few months ago she slipped on the ice when carrying coal and broke her hip, moves about with the assistance of one crutch.

Since she has not been able to walk so well her fingers have been busy piecing numbers of quilts and quilting them with the dainty stitches only possible to the women of the old school of needlework.

These she has on sale. She only uses her glasses to sew and read with. Since Mr. Nutt retired from his business—stock raising—he has kept busy with odd jobs and until this season had a garden that was the pride of Clinton. Not enjoying an idle moment, he also begged his neighbors to let him help with theirs.

When they were married Nutt made but $13 a month.

GIRL HIDDEN TO AVOID WITCH.

Parents Keep Daughter Locked Up For Three Months.

Green Castle, Pa.—Neighbors of a family named Keller, who moved to this city from the country near the mountains some months ago, had observed that a daughter, aged twenty-one, had been missing since Easter. Inquiries met with evasive answers.

The rumors spread, the stories became magnified, and recently a constable was called and sent to the house. He demanded that the daughter, if locked in an upstairs room, as the stories had it, must be released at once. After demurring a bit the parents unlocked a door, and the young woman was set free.

She had been penned in the one room since the day after Good Friday. Her parents said they locked her up because she was being bewitched by a hex doctor.

GLORIA'S ROMANCE

By Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes

Copyright, 1916, by Adelaide M. Hughes

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, banker and railroad magnate, with his sixteen-year-old daughter, Gloria, is wintering at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious, but willful young lady who chafes under the restraining hand of a governess from whom she repeatedly escapes. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. She steals from her room at night and in an auto plunges into the surf where she leaves the car.

Royce was not the only one in the everglades hunting the estray. Freneau had gone as far as his motor boat would carry him. Then he had found a native Indian with a dugout, a cypress log hollowed. The Indian drove it with a pole. He had heard nothing of Gloria's presence in the thicket, but he promised to guide Freneau to some of the scattered villages.

Meanwhile Dr. Royce, hunting in every direction, had happened upon the home of the Sipes, and had asked about Gloria. Fearing that he had come to demand the return of Gloria's jewels they pretended not to have seen her. But Royce caught a glimpse of Gloria's evening dress, which Mrs. Sipe was trying to hide. He charged the Sipes with deception, probably with murder.

They hastened to confess that they had seen her and helped her on her way in the clothes of a boy. They sent young Sipe to show Royce which way Gloria had gone. Young Sipe, still angry at Gloria and his parents, sent Royce in a false direction, too. He laughed as he saw the crazy stranger in that tattered evening dress playing his blind man's buff, not knowing that rivals were searching the wilderness, and knowing that Gloria was now in Indian servitude.

The young chief, Katcalani, kept watching Gloria. Her whiteness, her delicacy, the unconscious daintiness with which she lifted the crooked faggot from the brushwood, and the luxurious aureole of her hair in the Florida sun, made him frantic to call her his own. He beckoned her to follow him and led her to a distance where the shambling, dusky women of his tribe could not see him bow his turbaned head to the chalk-faced squaw.

Gloria hoped that the peculiar person was going to help her to escape, and she followed him with only a little fear. But he paused and began to declare his passion with all an Indian's eloquence.

His dialect was crude, but his emotion was fierce. He compared her with the most graceful palm, with the rarest orchids. He said that the sunrise was in her hair and the stars in her eyes. He compared himself with the great warrior Osceola, who had slain so many whites. He offered to kill all the white men in Florida to please her. He spoke of his wealth. His turban had a sliver band made out of four silver dollars. He had a gold watch, sixteen handkerchiefs, and eighteen shirts. He had six of them on. Gloria should have his grandmother's forty pounds of beads to wear—she should be a queen and she would not have to plow.

Gloria had often dreamed of her first proposal of marriage. This was it. It did not accord with her dreams. She was disgusted, aghast, afraid. She could think of nothing to do.

She caught sight of the dagger that Katcalani wore in his belt. In a sick horror of her fate she snatched it from him. She had not the courage to kill herself, or him, but she gave him the knife and begged him to plunge it into her heart. Katcalani glared at her in a frenzy of humiliation and wrath. Then the child-woman wavered on her tired feet and suddenly dropped to the ground in a dead faint.

Katcalani's rolling eyes made out a startling vision. Dick Freneau was standing before him. The Indian guide had put him ashore near the village and was waiting for him to make inquiries. Freneau had pushed through the palmettos just in time to see Gloria swoon. He recognized her by her fair skin and her bright hair. He approached Katcalani to claim her and the reward.

But the young chief was in no mood for a parley. He gnashed his teeth and threatened Freneau with such bloodthirsty fury, that Freneau fell back. He felt his hair rise and his scalp already going. He retreated in such haste that Katcalani did not pursue him far. He stood watching for him to reappear.

Meanwhile, by another roundabout land path, Dr. Royce had found the Seminole village. He saw Gloria where she lay on the ground. He thought her some young Indian maiden asleep. He paused to wake her and ask if she had seen Gloria. He saw that she was Gloria.

Before he could stoop to lift her he saw Katcalani turn and stare. The Indian had a knife in his hand. He had put one white man to flight: he charged on this other. But Royce did not fall back. He advanced. He was half mad with his night's wandering and he was afraid of nothing. With his bare hands he went straight into the fight.

AUTO RACES HELP GOOD ROADS WORK

SPEEDWAYS RESPONSIBLE FOR BIG IMPROVEMENTS IN HIGHWAYS.

All Hamilton County, Ohio, Roads Are Being Improved For Big Race On Labor Day.

As a stimulus to road building and improving, the motor speedways in various parts of the country seem to be playing a decidedly prominent part. Evidence of this fact is found in the experience of the managers of the new Cincinnati Speedway, which is to be inaugurated with a 300-mile, $30,000 race under the auspices of the A. A. A. on Labor Day, September 4, in connection with the big event. As soon as work had progressed sufficiently far on the new two-mile course to make it certain that the inaugural would take place as scheduled, the County Commissioners of Hamilton County, in which Cincinnati is located, immediately began a resurvey of the various roads leading to the Speedway, ascertaining just what improvements were needed to place these highways in the best possible touring condition for the big event. When the necessary data had been secured contracts were let for the improvement, and the work now is being pushed as rapidly as possible in order that all Hamilton county roads leading to the speedway will be in first class condition by September 1.

Advices received from various sections on the Dixie Highway also bring assurances of activity in the improvement line, due to a desire on the part of hundreds of motorists in the South to tour along the Highway to Cincinnati for the big race and for the Dixie Highway convention and exposition which will be held in Cincinnati from September 1 to 9.

BULL CHASES AUTO.

Owner Drove Machine Around a Field Until Animal Was Tired.

Federalsburg, Md.—Twiford Williams, a farmer living near here, had a thrilling experience with an infuriated bull. Williams ran his motor car into a field to look over the bull, which he was contemplating buying. The bull made a dash for the machine. Williams quickly turned on all the power the car contained and the machine shot away at a fifty mile an hour clip, but when it reached the gate leading out of the field Williams could not make the turn at such high speed.

The bull chased him around the field repeatedly and made desperate attempts to head off the car, but Williams, by carefully manipulating the steering wheel, managed to elude the beast, which finally became tired and gave the frightened man a chance to escape through the gate.

MADE FISH COOL; HOOKED 'EM.

Dropped Ice In Weeds, and In Short Time Captured Bass.

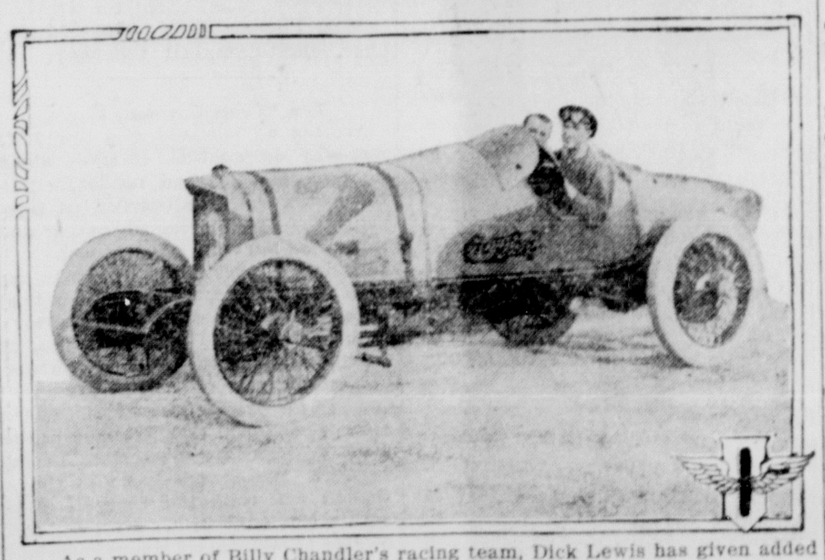

Rochester, N. Y.—Hibbard Raymond of the Lake Keuka Fishing club has discovered a new way to catch black bass in hot weather.

"Bass feel the hot weather as much as we do," he said, "so I planned to make a place for them to cool off in and then catch them out of it.

"I took a cake of ice and dropped it in the weeds in the rocky cove off Fish point. Two hours later I drifted by the spot with golden shiners on my hooks and captured two bass, one two and one-half and the other three pounds. I wheeled around and snagged a four pounder. A few minutes later I had caught eight nice bass. The cool water is refreshing to the bass and sharpens their appetites."

There was no other damage.

St. Louis, Aug. 9.—Plank and Groom were invincible, while Washington pitchers were hit almost at will, and St. Louis won both games yesterday. A double by Foster in the ninth inning of the second game, after Williams had walked and stole second, spoiled a not hit game for Plank. Score.

COST OF CLEANING COLUMBUS STREETS

At the present time, with deep interest centered on flushing and keeping the city's paved streets in a cleanly condition, the cost of street cleaning in other cities is of general interest, and from Mr. John A. Worrell, of this city, figures are obtained showing the cost of sprinkling and sweeping in Columbus.

Mr. Worrell owns property on Dennison and Star avenues, Columbus, and has the figures showing cost of sprinkling and sweeping twice each week for a period of twelve months, on Dennison avenue.

Dennison avenue is 36 feet in width and Mr. Worrell's lot is 35 foot front, and the cost was $2.07. Until a few years ago the street was cleaned three times each week, but two cleanings were found sufficient.

On Star avenue, a 40 foot street, he owns a 40 foot lot, and the street is cleaned once each week. The cleaning costs $1.36 per year.

Mr. Worrell states the streets are kept clean and sanitary with the cleanings given.

WHEAT PRICE SHOOTS UP

Crop Damage Reports Given as Cause of Phenominal Rise.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Chicago, August 9. — At tip top prices of today's session of the Board of Trade, wheat showed an advance of 11¾ cents a bushel over night, owing to millions of bushels in domestic crop losses and because of further losses indicated in Canada.

Wildness of buying by wheat traders today exceeded any similar display since the outbreak of the European war.

After midday the fever to buy grew more intense, and the market soared to 10 cents a bushel above yesterday's close, December wheat touching $1.47.

Just before the close, a fresh bulge in the market brought prices up to nearly 12 cents advance in some cases.

Chicago, August 9. — Wheat prices shot upward eight cents a bushel today at the opening of the wheat market.

The December option touched $1.45 on first trading, as against $1.37 at yesterday's finish.

Sensational crop damage confirmed by the Government report was the cause of the extraordinary advance.

So much excitement ruled in the pit that transactions in many cases were 3 cents apart at the same instant.

The initial range on December varied from $1.42 to $1.45.

Property Damage Great.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Huntington, W. Va., August 9.—Officials of the Acme Coal Company this afternoon denied that 100 residents of Acme, W. Va., a coal mining village, had been drowned when a cloudburst swept down the Cabin Creek valley this morning.

Rumors of large loss of life, however, were persistent here. Property loss in the valley, it is said, will exceed a million dollars.

Six bridges on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway are reported to have been washed out, and in a number of places the tracks are said to have been swept from the right of way.

The Kanawha & Michigan and other roads in the valley also suffered heavily.

Wire communication with the Cabin Creek valley district is practically paralyzed.

The "Tired Business Man."

Are not all business men tired? If not, why do we hear so much about musical comedies and vaudeville performances that are constructed especially for the purpose of resting and refreshing the tired business man?

If there is any one claim that has been conceded for ages past it is this: Fatigue is much more fatal to a man than to a woman. We seldom hear of a tired washerwoman or a tired housekeeper. Nobody ever wrote a musical comedy for tired schoolmarms. It has always been held that if a man has to work at night he must sleep in the daytime. But everybody knows that a woman can walk the floor all night with a sick baby in her arms and still be able to perform strenuous household duties next day. "Man's work is from sun to sun"—that being the limit of his endurance.—Southern Woman's Magazine.

FIGHTING THE HESSIAN FLY

THE LIFE OF THE HESSIAN FLY (From the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture)

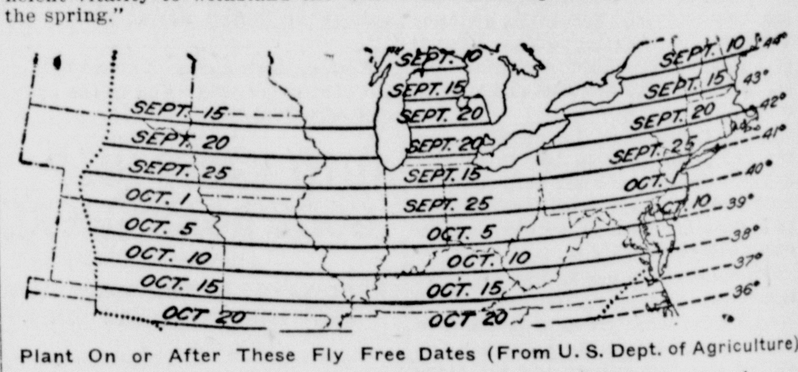

The life history of the Hessian Fly is shown above. The life of the adult fly is but a few days, probably but a week or less, and the great mass of the flies will appear at about the same time. If the wheat is sown after the flies appear by the time the wheat is up they will be gone and the plants escape the attacks of the fly.

Experiment stations urge you to sow wheat late in order to escape the Hessian Fly. Experience has taught you that the best yields are secured from plants that enter the winter with strong, healthy growth.

Solve this Problem by seeding late and hastening the fall growth by the use of 200 to 400 pounds of fertilizer containing 2% to 3% of available ammonia. Acid phosphate alone will not give the necessary, quick, strong, healthy growth. If the fly does not happen to be present this year, the good effects upon both the wheat and the grass seeded with the wheat, will repay many times the cost of the added ammonia. You cannot afford to be without this Fly Insurance.

Read Farmers' Bulletin 640 (U. S. Dept. of Agriculture) which says:

"The application broadcast of some quick-acting fertilizer containing a large percentage of phosphate, made as soon as general infestation is apparent will cause the plants to tiller more freely and give them sufficient vigor to withstand the winter, and thus increase the number of healthy stems the following spring.* * * * While it may seem 'far fetched' to bring forward as a preventive measure the enrichment of the soil, a fertile soil will produce plants that will withstand with little injury attacks that will prove disastrous to plants growing on an impoverished or thin soil. This is because a fertile soil will enable an infested plant to tiller freely, and these tillers will have sufficient vitality to withstand the winter and send up head-producing stems in the spring."

Plant On or After These Fly Free Dates (From U. S. Dept. of Agriculture)

If drought prevails, the seeding date should be longer delayed

SPIKING THE GUNS.

When the Old Fashioned Muzzle Loading Cannon Were In Use.

Did you ever remark when you had cleverly blocked the game of your opponent that you had "spiked the guns for the enemy," and then did you wonder why you had thus characterized the action? That it signifies "to put the guns out of commission, so that the enemy is prevented from turning his fire upon us," is obvious. But what has the spike to do with it? In the modern breech loading cannon there is no kind of spiking that would do much damage to the enemy's guns.

It is understood, of course, that this crippling of the foe is provided in advance, when our own guns are about to be captured. It is bad enough to be shot to pieces by the enemy's artillery, but it is doubly distressing to have our own turned upon us.

The old fashioned cannon was a muzzle loader, the powder and ball being introduced at the end opposite the breech. Just above the place where the charge of powder was located there was a hole in the cannon, so that a cap for discharging the powder could be introduced. This percussion cap was set off by means of a lanyard, which the artilleryman pulled. When it was certain that the cannon was going to be captured the hole for the introduction of the percussion cap was closed by means of a spike driven in, which would have to be drilled out before the gun could be used.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MONSTER CLOUD OF GREAT STRIKE MENACES NATION

Whether 400,000 Employes Will Strike Depends on Whether Brotherhoods Will Accept Nation's Offer of Mediation.

Leaders Now Debating Proposal Which Seems Only Method of Adjustment.

UNION HELD OFF

By Associated Press Dispatch.

NEW YORK, AUGUST 9.—WHETHER THE THREATENED STRIKE OF 400,000 RAILWAY EMPLOYES THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES WOULD BE AVERTED THROUGH MEDIATION OF THE FEDERAL BOARD OF MEDIATION AND CONCILIATION DEPENDED AT NOON TODAY UPON WHETHER THE RAILROAD BROTHERHOODS WOULD BE WILLING TO ACCEPT THE SERVICES OF THAT BODY.

DEMANDS REJECTED

New York, August 9.—The National Conference of Railroad Managers today again rejected the demands of the four railroad brotherhoods for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime and proposed submission of their differences with the men to the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliatin.

This proposal, A. B. Garretson, in behalf of the brotherhoods, rejected.

Mr. Garretson, reiterating the contention of the brotherhoods that in previous attempts to settle differences with the railroads through the federal board the brotherhoods had failed to obtain satisfactory awards, said that the union believed they could reach a settlement by dealing directly with the roads.

Judge W. L. Chambers, Chairman of the National Board of Mediation and Conciliation, announced later that the railroads had formally appealed to the board to mediate their differences with the union.

The board immediately prepared a communication to the brotherhoods offering its services, which, it was announced, would be dispatched to the brotherhood chiefs at once.

Meantime it was stated the board would remain in session to await the brotherhoods' reply.

It was indicated by members of the board that the communication was being sent on the assumption that the brotherhoods would accept their offer. A reply was expected before one o'clock today, it was said.

STRAIN TELLS ON HUGHES

Candidate Arrives in St. Paul Showing Effect of Unusual Work.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

St. Paul, Minn., August 9.—The strain of unaccutsomed campaigning had told upon Charles E. Hughes when he reached here today. He was fatigued and his voice was hoarse.

The throat specialist accompanying him urged him to save his voice for the Twin City meeting, and Mr. Hughes consequently refrained, except in one instannce, from making back-platform speeches at five scheduled stops in Minnesota before reaching this city.

NEW YORK CAR STRIKE.-"HUSTLING" AND ARRESTING STRIKERS

New York's car strike, which threatened to tie up all the transportation systems of the city, surface and overhead, began with few manifestations of disorder. There were, however, a few cases of rioting promptly checked by the police. Frank Lord, deputy police commissioner, told a meeting of strikers that union men had as much right as other citizens to ride on street cars, and that there was no law to prevent them from soliciting motormen and conductors to join the union and quit work so long as there was no effort at intimidation. He said the policemen on the cars would not interfere with that right. He also praised the rderly methods of the union. Some high police officials complained that trolley officials seemed to be hysterical and had called for help to quell imaginary disorders. There was so little disorder at one time that many of the policemen who had been mobilized at about a hundred points in the danger zone were allowed to go home. Department heads figured that they could guard all power houses, barns and cars.

(Associated Press Cable.)

London, August 9.—The new gains of the Allies on the Somme front, in northern France, are being held firmly in the face of heavy counter attacks by the Germans, according to the Paris official statement today.

Two such attacks, delivered last night on the positions recently taken by the French north of Helm Wood, are declared to have been repulsed.

Northeast of Verdun, the bitter struggle for the Thiaumont work and the village of Fleury is continuing.

The Germans have driven further into the Thiaumont positions, and only its outskirts are now held by the French, says the official statement from Paris.

In the Fleury sector, however, General Nivelle's forces have been more successful, making some progress in the village.

Officials here confirm news dispatches to the effect that Gorizia is entirely in the hands of the Italians who captured 10,000 Austrians.

Meager Reports Received at State Headquarters Do Not Indicate Any Developments Unexpected By Wiseacres.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, AUGUST 9.—SUCH MEAGRE REPORTS AS WERE RECEIVED HERE TODAY FROM YESTERDAY'S STATE WIDE PRIMARY DID NOT INDICATE ANY UNEXPECTED POLITICAL UPSET.

THE LEADERS OF THE TWO DOMINANT PARTIES WILL BE GOVERNOR FRANK B. WILLIS, REPUBLICAN, AND FORMER GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX, DEMOCRAT. THEY WON THE NOMINATIONS IN THEIR RESPECTIVE PARTIES WITHOUT DIFFICULTY.

The nomination for United States Senator on the Republican ticket went to Myron T. Herrick, of Cleveland, and by a good majority. His nearest opponent, Harry M. Daugherty, of Columbus, polled only a small vote.

Senator Atlee Pomerene was renominated by the Democrats. John J. Lentz of Columbus, who made the race against Pomerene, received a light vote.

Contests for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General and for the Republican nomination for Auditor of State were the only enlivening features of the state primary.

Until the official vote is counted, or more complete unofficial returns are received, it will be uncertain whether Joseph McGhee, of Jackson, or Scott Stahl, of Port Clinton, will make the race for Attorney General on the Democratic ticket.

McGhee carried Franklin county three to one, and also had a good lead in Cuyahoga county. On the strength of his vote in these two counties, he claimed the nomination.

The big vote accorded Hayes M. Adams, of Sandusky, for the Republican nomination for State Auditor was a surprise for the politicians. Joseph T. Tracy, of Portsmouth, was believed to be certain of nomination.

The vote for Adams is attributed to the fact that his name headed the list on the primary ballot, as the names are arranged in alphabetical order.

Although some organization leaders are credited with having opposed the re-nomination of Lieutenant Governor John H. Arnold, of Columbus, he defeated his opponent, Abram Agler with little difficulty.

Agler received a two to one vote over Arnold in Hamilton county, but in other counties Arnid had big majorities which easily offset the Hamilton county result.

E. J. Hopple, of Cleveland, was nominated as Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket.

Late returns indicate that Cox will have a majority of all votes cast for governor. Atlee Pomerene of Canton was renominated for United States senator over John J. Lentz of Columbus.

The Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor probably is E. J. Hopple, a state senator of Cleveland, who received support from the organization. His opponents were Earl D. Bloom of Bowling Green. D. L. Sutter of Cleveland and George W. Tooil of Columbus.

Thornton R. Snyder of Cincinnati, who had organization support, was nominated for secretary of state. Snyder's opponents were Carl F. Anteman of Hamilton, William D. Fulton among Democrats for renomination for state auditor.

For treasurer of state the nomination went to Chester E. Bryan of London, who had no opposition.

Joseph McGhee of Jackson, Democratic nominee two years ago, made a game fight for the nomination for attorney general, but, it is thought, was beaten by Scott Stahl of Port Clinton. There was a third candidate, W. J. Schenck of Bucyrus.

For the Democratic nominations for supreme judge, no one opposed the incumbents for renomination, Judges M. H. Donahue of New Lexington and James G. Johnson of Springfield.

The total vote cast throughout the state was light. Over twice as many Republicans as Democrats turned out.

CUYAHOGA'S ONE WAY VOTE

(By American Press)

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—Returns from Cuyahoga county show that Governor Willis and Colonel Herrick on the Republican ticket have carried the county by an overwhelming majority. Former Governor James M. Cox and Senator Pomerene (Dem.) also made it a runaway race in the county, easily outdistancing their opponents. Wil Gordon in the Twentieth and Robert Crosser in the Twenty-first district were nominated for congress by the Democrats. Eugene Quigley won the Republican congressional nomination in the Twentieth.

STRONG TALK

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Charles E. Hughes told an audience that crowded Chicago's great coliseum what he would do if elected president of the United States. He charged the present administration with waste, extravagance and vacillation. He declared that it had not kept the country out of war, but that it had fought an ignominous war in Mexico and had withdrawn from that war ignominously. He charged the administration with having brought the country much nearer to participation in the European war than the country would have been had the administration "stood for American rights." He declared that it was no more possible to expect tariff protection to American industries from a Democratic congress than it would be to get "a revival sermon out of a disorderly house."

The nominee assailed the administration also for its appointments to office and declared that if elected he would appoint to office only men who were well qualified.

For Lieutenant Governor—
John H. Arnold, Columbus.
For Secretary of State—
Charles Q. Hildebrant, Wilmington.
For Auditor of State—

For Attorney General—
Edward C. Turner, Columbus.
For Supreme Court—
A. N. Summers, Springfield.
Cyrus Newby, Hillsboro.
For Court of Appeals—
Moses B. Earnhart, Columbus.

Columbus, Aug. 9.—Primary returns show that Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland defeated Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, ex-Senator Charles Dick of Akron and E. E. Cassell of Richland county for nomination for United States senator.

Frank B. Willis of Ada was renominated for governor by the Republicans over Rudolph W. Mack of Cincinnati and George W. Shaw of Cleveland.

Both Herrick and Willis scored notable victories. Herrick may have a majority of all votes cast in the senatorial race. He said he thought he had been nominated 3 to 1.

Reports from cities indicate that Lieutenant Governor John H. Arnold, Republican, may be beaten for renomination by Abram W. Agler, attorney of Canton. Returns from Cincinnati, where Agler was indorsed by the county central committee, showed him leading over Arnold, a dry, about 3 to 1. Stark county, Agler's home county, showed a similar ratio.

FRANK B. WILLIS.

Charles Q. Hildebrant of Wilmington had no opposition for renomination for secretary of state.

The Republican nomination for auditor was hotly contested. Joseph T. Tracy of Portsmouth, at present a deputy in the auditor's office under Donahey, had organized support at Cincinnati, and also to an extent at Cleveland. In the latter city, the party leaders were divided between Tracy and Jacob J. Wise of Massillon. Other candidates for auditor were Hayes M. Adams of Sandusky, George C. Braden of Warren, Charles D. Conover of Urbana, Stephen A. Stilwell of Lebanon. Late returns indicate the nomination of Adams.

Rudolph W. Archer of Bellaire, Republican, was renominated without opposition for treasurer of state.

Edward C. Turner of Columbus had no opposition and was renominated for attorney general.

James Joyce, Cambridge, former congressman, is leading for the Republican nomination for the supreme court. Either Cyrus Newby, Hillsboro, for twenty-five years a common pleas judge, or Augustus N. Summers, former judge of the supreme court, will be second. The other Republican candidates were J. G. Obermyre, Columbus, former clerk of the supreme court, and Willis Vickery, Cleveland, common pleas judge in Cuyahoga county.

A light vote was cast throughout the state.

HOME DOING GREAT WORK

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—An institution in this city that receives much praise for its work is the Friends Rescue Home where unfortunate girls are cared for. Here their babies are looked after and given a temporary home and the mothers are housed until they can obtain honest employment or a good home. The girls are taught cooking sewing and other domestic arts which they find of great advantage after leaving the home.

Through the training provided at this institution seventy-five percent of the girls received "turn out well" according to Miss Evangeline Reams in charge of the home.

The home was founded eleven years ago on a capital of five dollars. Miss Reams rented a house in Harris avenue and opened her doors to girls who had no other place to go. Last January with aid of public contributions it was possible to move to more commodious quarters. These now are again outgrown and Miss Reams is trying to obtain funds with which to enlarge the building.

A total of 499 girls have been cared for at the home since its foundation. Ninety girls were received last year, 49 babies being brought into the world. Since January 7, 1916 forty-seven girls have been received, and the capacity number—19, is now being cared for. An average of four applications for admission are received every week.

WILL RETURN BATTLE FLAG

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Newark, O., Aug. 9.—The battle-scarred flag of the Seventy-sixth Ohio Volunteer Infantry lost in a hard fight with the "Johnnies" at Ringgold Gap, Ga., more than fifty years ago is to be returned to the survivors of the regiment at its annual reunion to be held here Sept. 26.

The Seventy-sixth was ambushed at Ringgold Gap by the Confererates and sustained heavy losses before retreating. Every color bearer of the regiment, save one, Sargeant Montgomery, was killed. The flag was captured by the First Alabama Remiment which charged the Buckeye soldiers who in the face of superior numbers were forced to flee.

The flag will be brought north by a committee consisting of Governor Elect C. H. Brough of Arkansas and Colonel J. R. Gibbons commander of Omer R. Weaver Camp No. 354, United Confederate Veterans, of Little Rock Ark. Governor-elect Brough is a nephew of John Brough one of Ohio's Civil War governors. His mother was a native of the south while his father was a soldier in the Union army. He has taken an active part in the negotiations for the return of the flag.

Speaking for the representatives of the regiment that captured the flag, Governor-elect Brough will turn the emblem over to Governor Willis who will acept it on behalf of the Buckeye state. Sergeant Montgomery, surviving color bearer of the regiment, who resides in Newark will receive the banner on behalf of the regiment.

The Seventy-sixth was recruited in this vicinity.

The ceremonies were held at the Hanly home and were attended by representative Prohibitionists from all over the country. Robert H. Patton of Springfield, Ill., delivered the address of notification. In his speech of acceptance Mr. Hanly repudiated one plank of the national Prohibition platform. He said he did not favor the initiative, referendum and recall, that he would not uphold it in his campaign speeches, and, if elected, he would oppose its enactment into a law.

Contrary to Law

Every "once in a while" we hear of a judge who has the courage to go direct from cause to effect and mete out punishment to an offender, and at the same time a proper and entirely practical redress for injuries done.

To take a short cut judges are compelled to brush aside the meaningless forms and unnecessary delays of law.

The encouraging thing is that now days we hear of more judges who have that kind of courage and more lawyers who refuse to undertake the task of reversing such action by the court.

A recent case illustrating the tendency is to be found in the action of Judge Fawcett of the Brooklyn county court.

Two strikers faced Judge Fawcett a few days ago charged with inflicting such severe injuries upon a man who refused to join the strike that the victim was compelled to go to the hospital for a month, resulting in his family being evicted from their humble home for non-payment of rent.

Judge Fawcett "according to law" could have held the men to the grand jury. After a long time they might have been indicted and then after another long delay and a tedious trial might have been convicted and sent to prison for a term.

But Judge Fawcett didn't proceed according to law. He told the ruffians that if they would pay the man they assaulted one hundred dollars cash and give bond to pay him fifteen dollars a week until he was able to go back to work, he would release them. They did as Judge Fawcett suggested, were saved the disgrace of serving a prison term and the victim received benefits in spite of the law.

Men like Judge Fawcett are pioneers in a great movement. Some of these days we are going to have more common sense included in our laws and then there will be fewer offenses and more real and more speedy remedy.

The Golden Rod

The prolonged drouth and hot spell will doubtless bring forward the fall flowers this year sooner than they usually make their appearance.

Like the flowers of spring those of the autumn season have a charm, an appropriateness and an individuality all their own.

One of the most beautiful of the flowers which wave the farewell to summer and one which man makes the least attempt to domesticate and improve is the golden rod.

The following from The Philadelphia North American is instructive and eulogistic of the beautiful flower which grows in such riotous profusion and beauty in so many sections of the United States:

"Many botanists and lovers of flowers have claimed for the goldenrod the right to be called the national flower, because of its abundance, wide distribution and showy qualities. The goldenrod reaches its glory with the aster and crysanthemum, and all three belong to the remarkable composite family. While the crysanthemum and aster are more pleasing in their cultivated forms, the goldenrod revels in its natural, wild beauty, lingering into the golden days of October. Though native in all temperate climes, the species are most numerous in North America. At least seventy-five different species are found in the United States. Rich soil of course is the greatest desire of the goldenrod. However, it will make the most of whatever opportunity it has and refuses to die, even when the soil is poor and dry.

The Glorious Rains

The rains of Sunday afternoon and Tuesday morning, no matter whether they are called by the weather bureau authorities only local showers or dignified by the much more comprehensive term of general rains, have been of almost inestimable value to men and crops in this section.

It is amazing to observe how quickly the vegetation responds to the kindly touch of nature. The parched brown lawns which, to all appearances, are dead beyond recall, leap into life again within a few hours.

Every blade of corn, every leaf and every blade of grass instantly wheels into action and "mobilizes" every drop of water that falls from the heavens, conveying it safely, certainly and with a minimum of waste to the thirsty plant roots until the basic reservoirs are filled.

Just what these showers mean, in dollars and cents, cannot be exaggerated.

The results of these break ups, after long dry spells, are immediately pleasing and ultimately profitable to man and beast and every growing living thing.

They make us realize that no matter how discouraged we get nature never forgets us.

Poetry For Today

FAT MAN SOLILOQUIZES.

That's right, laugh,
Laugh long and loud,
You long, lean, lank, attenuated specimen of humanity,
Who cannot cast a shadow
And who shivers to death in the winter
And regards us fat folks then with keenest envy.
Laugh, doggone you, laugh!
Have a good time;
Crack your ribs.
It's your turn now—
Go head.
Give us the equine ha-ha!
Laugh, doggone you,
Laugh!

Laugh, while you can;
Chuckle, grin, giggle,
Point your long, bony finger at the upholstered frame
And smile at this all too solid flesh.
Your period of merriment is brief,
Then will come the north wind,
Crackling around your sylph-like frame,
Beating a tattoo upon your spare-ribs;
And your knees will rattle,
Even sa the endman's bones,
And you will shiver
Like unto the aspen.
Then, doggone you,
We'll laugh.

KITTENS DISPLACE LAP DOGS.

Paris Actresses Carry Tabbies to Bois de Boulogne.

London.—The Parisienne is forsaking her lap dog of former days and taking to the kitten as a pet, according to the Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette.

The correspondent does not attempt to say whether the change is due to hard times, to the doubled dog tax or merely to an inexplicable whim of the moment. He says:

"Actresses whose popularity is sufficient to shield them from the reproach of seeking a new form of personal advertisement have lately taken to frequenting the Bois de Boulogne at the fashionable parade hour with the dearest of little tabbies snuggling roguishly in their arms or gamboling riotously round and about them."

TO AID DEFECTIVES

Abram I. Elkus Would Have Factories Established.

NEED MEDICAL ASSISTANCE.

Subnormal Persons Now Burden on Public Might Become Self Supporting if They Were Put to Suitable Work, Says Ambassador to Turkey.

New York.—Abram I. Elkus, the new ambassador to Turkey, succeeding Henry Morgenthau, has long been one of the foremost lawyers in New York city, and as counsel to the state factory investigating committee was active in bringing about much remedial legislation in New York state. The medical aspect of factory legislation is treated by Mr. Elkus in an address delivered before the Society of Medical Jurisdiction in New York.

Whether there is to be a new era of physical health and well being for the great mass of our people, those who toil in the mills and mines, in our factories, workshops and other industrial establishments, depends in a substantial measure, Mr. Elkus said, upon the interest that the medical profession, as such, will take in the near future in matters of factory legislation and social reform generally. He went on to define a field for practical reform, which so far has been ignored entirely. He said:

ABRAM I. ELKUS

"There are some men and women, and their number seems to be increasing, who are not able, because of physical or mental defects, to do any kind of work or to work for regular hours every day or whose employment has to be selected to fit their particular type. These are generally classified as subnormal persons. This does not mean—as physicians know—that they are insane or idiotic or unable to care for themselves. They need some assistance in caring for themselves so that they do not become an absolute burden upon the people at large.

"What greater work could be done than to employ competent physicians to make a study of these subnormal unfortunates and to establish factories under competent medical supervision where they could be put to work suited to their needs, where their health could be studied and improved and they themselves restored to the great body politic as healthy men and women?"

RECRUITS GAIN WEIGHT.

Company of U. S. Marine Corps Benefit by Training in South Carolina.

Port Royal, S. C.—Plain, wholesome food, fresh air and regular hours caused the recruits of the Ninth drill company of the United States marine corps, in training at the recruit depot here, to gain almost seven pounds per man in weight after fourteen weeks of instruction. This company of fifty-six men weighed upon enlistment 8,076 pounds, and at the end of fourteen weeks' training it increased to 8,467 pounds, a gain of 391 pounds.

This same company had a chest capacity upon enlistment of 11,909 cubic inches and after fourteen weeks had increased it to 13,295 cubic inches, a gain of 1,386 cubic inches. The physical gain of this company was 38 per cent.

Hagerstown, N. D.—Because they resorted to the deception of sending each other photographs of moving picture stars Miss Esther Gulbranson of Minneapolis and William Benjamin failed to recognize each other when they met in Hagerstown according to appointment to be married.

"No wonder I did not recognize him," Miss Gulbranson said.

She had received, she said, a picture of a famous movie star, while Mr. Benjamin said the photograph he got through the mail was that of a screen beauty famous the world over. The romance began through a matrimonial paper. The marriage was called off.

RAPID FIRING GUNS.

Hurling a Tornado of Death Into the Ranks of the Enemy.

Since the introduction of the modern quick firing gun and the perfection of "time" shrapnel and high explosive shells new and scientific methods of rapid firing have been developed. When a rapid and overwhelming fire is wanted, the range is found, and the ground within the limits of the prescribed area is swept from end to end with a tornado of fire.

In the French army this is called a rafale (a squall or gust). It is a series of eight rounds per gun, each two rounds being laid to burst 100 yards farther than the last, thus sweeping an area of say 400 yards with a rain of shrapnel or a devastating series of high explosive shells. "Sweeping" fire is a series of three rounds per gun, one in the original line, one to the right and one to the left. This is also, and significantly, called "mowing." A further combination is called "search and sweep."

Time was when the commander of a battery stood near his guns and shouted commands to his gunners. Today the artillery officer may be two or three miles away directing operations by telephone from an observation post in view of the enemy's works. The observatory may be a ruined house, a tree trunk, a shell crater or a haystack, and from this point he observes the accuracy of the fire of his battery and telephones instructions to the gunners in the rear, altering the range when necessary and communicating any enemy movements, so that the shells soon find a new mark.

Instruments of precision and careful calculations are of course necessary to fight a battery in this manner, many allowances having to be made for the difference in height, distance and angle between the battery commander and the guns under his charge.—Exchange.

Circumstantial Evidence.

The following instance of conclusive circumstantial evidence came to light in a case in which Lord Chancellor Eldon was employed on circuit. In later years he related it to one of his daughters in these words:

"I have heard some very extraordinary cases of murder trials. I remember in one, where I was counsel, for a long time the evidence did not appear to touch the prisoner at all, and he looked about him with the most perfect unconcern, seeming to think himself quite safe.

"At last the surgeon was called, who stated that the deceased had been killed by a shot—a gunshot—in the head, and he produced the matted hair and stuff cut from and taken out of the wound. It was all hardened with blood. A basin of warm water was brought into court, and as the blood was gradually softened a piece of printed paper appeared—the wadding of the gun—which proved to be half of a ballad.

"The other half had been found in the man's pocket when he was taken. He was hanged."

The Three Scutaris.

There are three places named Scutari—one in Albania, one opposite to Constantinople and one in southern Greece. It is curious that each name comes from a different original form. The Greek Scutari is otherwise Scatari, the Albanian one is the Illyrian Scodra, and the Asiatic one is the Turkish Uskudar. This last means a courier carrying royal orders from station to station and commemorates the fact that this place, the ancient Chrysopolis or City of Gold was the starting point of the Asiatic couriers.

CONTEST CLOSE

In the Fifth-Sixth state senatorial district, composed of the counties of Highland, Clinton, Greene, Ross and Fayette, indications were this afternoon that Murrell would win the Republican nomination for State Senator after a hard race with Tippett. The result of the race between Wood and Hiser, Democratic candidates, was uncertain.

In Ross county, Murrell received 1,013 votes; Tippett, 1,055; Hiser, 601, and Wood, 999. In Fayette Murrell polled 659; Tippett 620; Hiser, 182; Wood, 141. Actual figures from the other counties were unavailable.

TWO VOTES BY ONE MAN

Flushing Contract Swung Late This Afternoon By Dual Capacity oi One Official.

At a meeting of the Board of Control, consisting of Mayor Oster and Safety-Service Director James Hillery, held shortly before four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Hillery made a motion that the contract for flushing be awarded to Tom Hillery.

Mayor Oster cast a vote against the proposal and nearly fell off his chair when Safety-Service Director Hillery cast two votes for the proposal—one as Safety Director and one as Service Director.

STREET PAVING JOBS AWARDED

At a lengthy meeting of the Board of Control, Tuesday afternoon the paving contracts of Fayette, Ogle and Delaware and North Main streets were awarded.

The Fayette street job, by far the larger of the three, was awarded to Bolan, Wilt and Kelly at approximately $37,066, and Trimble square-edged blocks are to be used. A bond of $25,000 was required.

The Ogle and Delaware streets job was awarded to Heffner & Son at approximately $3,851, and Trimble blocks will be used.

On North Main street the job was awarded to The Andrews Asphalt Paving Company at a little above $4,000.

The work on the two streets to be paved with brick will be taken up at once and finished this fall.

Work on South Fayette street will begin this week or next.

SANITATION ORDERS ARE SENT FORTH

Health Officer Byron Declares War on Everything Unsanitary and Orders Dairies, Restaurants and Meat Dealers to Exercise Care—Permits Are Necessary.

Stringent orders have been issued by Health Officer John W. Byron, who is now devoting virtually all of his time to sanitation, and more healthful food and surroundings in the city.

Health Officer Byron has just issued the following statement, which will be of widespread interest:

Dairies must at all times be kept in a sanitary condition. Milk must be handled clean and sold clean.

"The Dairyman who fails to come up to the standard required by the Health laws will have his Milk supply shut off from entering the city.

"Permits from the Health department will be issued to all Milk and Meat dealers and all sub-dealers or street peddlers of Meats, Fish, Etc. will be compelled to produce a Board of Health permit and proof of where they obtained their supply and if their stock does not stand inspection, the whole cargo will be taken to the city dump and the violator given the opportunity of contributing to the Sanitary fund.

"We will also require that all restaurants, hotels, eating houses and places where Milk is sold or furnished shall not remove the top or butter fat nor adulterate in any manner, but shall furnish to the public Milk as it comes from the Dairy.

"No excuse will be taken for leaving manure and garbage to accumulate in alleys, yards and other places. Garbage cans with a cover for garbage and closed bins for manure. There is no need of side-stepping these issues, repeated warnings have been sent out. The Health laws are broad and sweeping and will be used to get results.

"The city has provided a dump ground for all accumulations which belong only in a place of that kind.

"No further notice will be given as to the dumping of manure, garbage, refuse and unsanitaary matter along roadways in vacant lots etc. The first one caught in an act of this kind will get the limit.

"A general clean up of the city is ordered and the quicker we get to it the better.

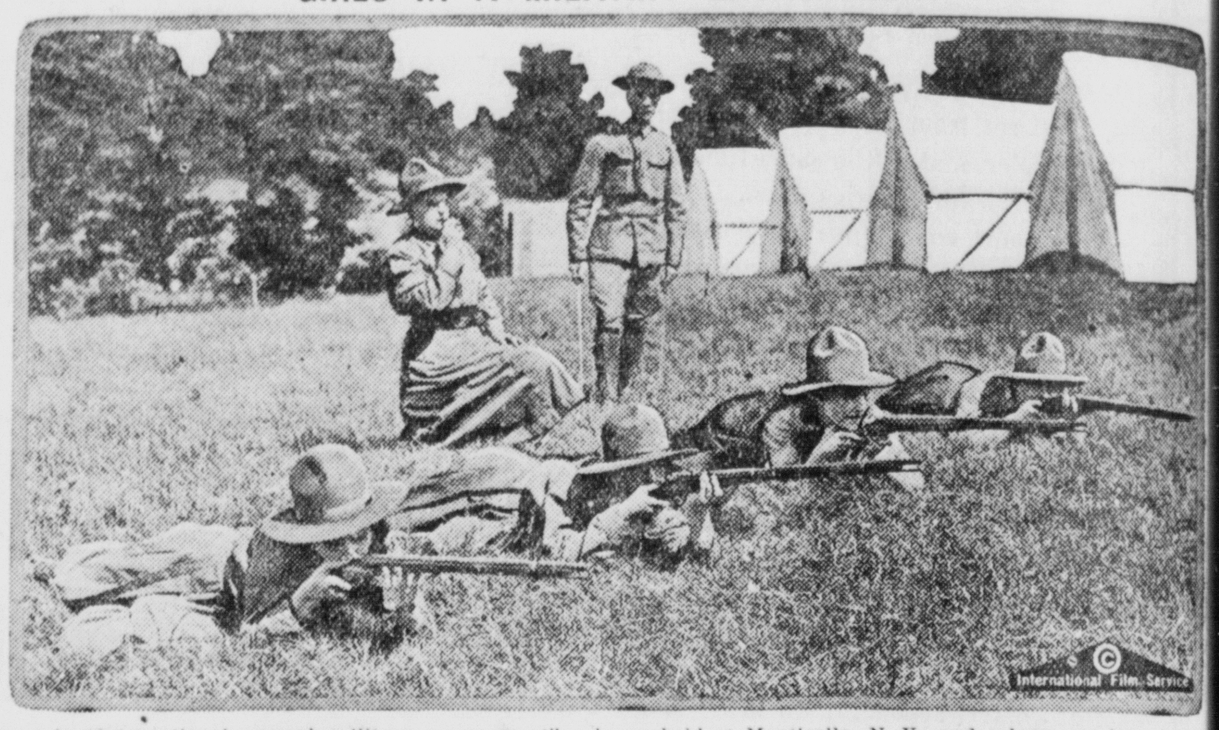

"The Health department is ready at all times to receive complaints of Unsanitary conditions and w'll work hand in hand with the public for a clean and Sanitary city, but if results cannot be obtained in this maner laws will be enforced and that without delay.

JNO. W. BYRON,
Health Officer.

CLAIM WILT BID UNFAIR

Flushing Contract Held Up Because Word "Cleaning" Does Not Appear in Bid of Wilt—Solicitor Gregg Decides Term Not Necessary and Bid Is Legal.

Failure to agree upon awarding the flushing contract, on the part of the Board of Control, is said to be due to the wording of the bid submitted by J. S. Wilt, which does not include the term "cleaning" mentioned in the other bids. Other contractors contend that the bid was for flushing only, and does not mention "cleaning," and that if they had bid on flushing only they could have submitted a lower bid.

Contractor Wilt contends that his bid was for the entire job, and so informed council, and expressed a readiness to proceed accordingly.

Wilt's bid reads: "As per advertisement, I make the following bids on flushing streets and avenues."

The bids of Hillery and Hess & Maddox read: "Flushing and cleaning as per specifications." The bid of Head reads: "cleaning and flushing" but does not say according to specifications.

The specifications, headed, "Specifications for flushing and cleaning certain streets etc," contains the following proviso as to the bid:

"A bid stating the price per square yard that he (or they) agree to furnish flusher, water, teams, tools and do necessary work to thoroughly clean the streets and avenues named below, in a good workman like manner and leave each and every street or avenue clean and in a sanitary condition after each flushing."

The advertisement calling for bids reads:

"For furnishing the necessary labor and materials for flushing the paved streets of the city for a period of five years, in accordance with an ordinance heretofore passed for that purpose, and according to the plans and specifications therefor on file in this office."

Solicitor Gregg, when asked for his opinion as to the legality of the Wilt bit, stated that he believed it was a legal bid and should be so treated, and called attention to Wilt's expressed willingness to sign a contract to conform with the specifications, and proceed with the work.

And so the matter rests, and will again come before council at the adjourned session next Monday night.

DEEP INTEREST IN ICE PLANT CASE

Quite a number of Jeffersonville citizens, in addition to some 18 witnesses subpoenaed from that place, assembled at the court house Wednesday, to hear the case of J. W. Howard against the Straley Garage Company, the action growing out of damage alleged to have been inflicted upon plaintiff's property by reason of the proximity of the ice plant in Jeffersonville.

The plaintiff's witnesses were all examined and plaintiff rested, early Wednesday afternoon, after which one of the defendants, George Straley, was placed upon the stand.

The Plaintiff's witnesses were: James Todd, Leonard Charles, G. A. Scott, Ernest Thornton, J. H. Sturges, Cora Tyree, Ora Sprague, Chas. Woodson, Mrs. Herbert Vannorsdall and Mrs. Joe Lanum.

Defendant's witnesses were: Eli Smith, O. J. Glaze, Joe Lanum, A. G. Blessing, Losson Day, Herbert Vannorsdall, Will Sprenger, Geo. Straley.

Plaintiff was represented by Gregg, Patton & Gregg, and defendant by John Logan.

It was expected all evidence would be submitted Wednesday afternoon.

WHEAT JUMPS 10C ON BUSHEL TODAY

The price of wheat in this city followed the big jump in Chicago, Wednesday, and at one bound went frm $1.28 to $1.38 per bushel—one of the biggest jumps ever recorded in this city in one day.

JUDGE ALLEN HERE TUESDAY

Probate Judge Rell G. Allen came down from Camp Willis, Columbus, Tuesday, to vote and to dispose of some matters specially assigned in Court.

The Judge's six weeks or more of service as Major of the 4th Regiment has made him as brown as a berry and so far as appearances go, as fit as a fiddle. He says he is enjoying the vigorous work of camp life and feels better physically than for some time.

Asked as to camp life and the prospects of the Ohio troops being sent to the border for service, Judge Allen, instantly took on an attitude of military reticence and there was nothing beyond the generalities to be gathered from him on those matters.

Asked as to his intentions politically Judge Allen asserted that he would be a candidate for re-election to the office of Probate Judge this fall, at the general election on the judicial ticket.

Many friends throughout the county noted the fact that Judge Allen was not a candidate in the primaries and 100 went so far as to write his name on the ballot, forgetting for the moment that candidates for judicial positions are voted for upon a separate ballot at the general election.

PRESBYTERIANS ENJOY PICNIC

The annual Presbyterian picnic, known this year as the Union Picnic of the First Presbyterian church and the McNair Memorial church, was held Wednesday afternoon on the beautiful Cherry Hill school grounds, where a fine grove offered ideal surroundings for just such a pleasant affair.

Some three hundred members of the two churches assembled on the grounds where games and swings were started by the children, and where the grown-ups proceeded to enjoy themselves in genuine picnic fashion.

At the noon hour dozens of bulging baskets were opened and all partook of a big picnic dinner, spread in the cool shade of the big trees on Cherry Hill.

A pleasant feature f the jolly affair was the presence of Superintendent and Mrs. Pinkerton, and their charges of the county Children's Home, they having responded to an invitation extended by both Sunday schools and churches, and no one enjoyed the picnic quite as much as the little boys and girls of the Home. All joined in the pleasurable task of seeing that the county charges really had the time of their lives, and the indications were that they did have it.

The picnic was one of the most enjoyable of any similar event ever held by the society.

"JAPLAND," SEASON'S NEWEST OFFERING

"Japland," one of the largest traveling organizations, employing the joint services of John W. Vogel's Big Minstrels in its entirety, also a complete caste for opera, a girl chorus of twenty, concert band, and double symphony orchestra, will be seen at the Empire Theatre, Friday, August 11. The book deals with the world's tour of a famous grand opera company which encounters opposition at Tokio with an American minstrels. An informal reception in their honor is held in the tea garden of the Mikado, the band and orchestra of Vogel's Big Minstrels furnishing the music for the occasion. A grand double performance in the form of an out-of-doors Cabaret is the result of the meeting, the artists of both combinations endeavoring to outdo the other that the Mikado and his suit be entertained in royal American fashion. The minstrels give their first-part in costume, and the operatic contingent sing selections from the many compositions in their vast repertoire, the number including a duet from "Pinafore," trio from "Iolanthe", the Swan Song from "Lohengrin", "Three Little Maids" from "The Mikado" and the Sextette from "Lucia". The specialties from the minstrel olio prevent monotony and the beautiful girl chorus lures the hearts of the Japanese onlookers with captivating tangoing gyrations and pretty gowns.

The play is in two acts and fourteen scenes—all caried by the company—and is pictorially, as well as for gorgeous costuming, a grand spectacle entirely worth while, superior in every way to that seen with the average road show. advt

CAPTURE AUSTRIAN FORTRESS

Italians In Possession of Goritz Bridgehead.

CAPTURE 8,000 PRISONERS

Drive by Russians In Southeastern Galicia Nets the Slavs Gains On a Seventeen Mile Front—Thiaumont Work In Verdun Sector Captured by Germans—Allied Advance Made In Somme Region.

London, Aug. 9.—The allies have made important gains on two fronts.

Official announcement was made at Rome that the Italian forces captured the Goritz bridgehead, which the Austrians have held with the greatest stubbornness for more than a year.

It was Italy's greatest victory since the opening of the Austro-Italian war. The bridgehead is held to be the key to the city of Trieste.

At the same time it was announced that Monte Sabotino and Monte St. Michele, scenes of almost equally bloody fighting and strongly fortified Austrian positions, have fallen before the new Italian offensive on the Isonzo front. Over 8,000 Austrian prisoners, including 200 officers, were captured.

Italian artillery is now shelling Goritz itself, and is driving the enemy out of houses just west of the city, it was officially announced. The fall of the fortress is considered by Italian military officers to be imminent.

German troops recaptured the strongly fortified Thiaumont work northeast of Verdun, it was officially announced at the French war office. A bloody battle is still raging around the redoubt.

Following a night of terrific bombardment, the Germans directed five violent attacks against the French positions from Fleury village to the Thiaumont position. Very large forces were employed in these attacks.

At Fleury village the Germans were completely repulsed, suffering heavily. By repeated onslaughts a Teutonic force finally fought its way into the Thiaumont work, which was recaptured last week by the French in their counter offensive. The French immediately counter attacked.

A drive by the Russians against the Austro-German front in southeastern Galicia netted the Slavs the most important gain made by the allies in more than a fortnight of fighting. The czar's troops broke out with a heavy drive westward against the important Galician city of Stanislau. They attacked on a seventeen mile front, crumpling in the Austro-German line and capturing the town of Tlumacz, fifteen miles southeast of Stanislau, and surrounding heights.

The German war office admitted retirement on a front of nearly fifteen miles.

Further north the Russians continued their advance along the Sereth river. The Russian war office announced the capture of more than 8,000 men in the Sereth fighting of Saturday and Sunday. The German war office also announced resumption of heavy fighting in the region east of Kovel.

British troops, in conjunction with the French, moved forward in an advance on the village of Guillemont, north of the Somme.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Falling off in crop prospects amounting to many millions of dollars' loss to farmers of the country were indicated in the department of agriculture's August report. Wheat showed a loss from the July forecast of 105,000,000 bushels, corn 89,000,000 bushels, oats 43,000,000 bushels, barley 11,000,000 bushels, and there were decreases in rye, white and sweet potatoes, flax, apples and peaches. A heavy reduction of the indicated production of cotton previously had been reported. Corn, the nation's greatest crop, is in a serious condition from drought, and if rain does not come soon the yield will be smaller than the forecast just announced, which was 2,777,000 bushels.

Upper MARTIN A. KNAPP AND W.W. HANGER. Insert - W.L. CHAMBERS

President Wilson decided that he would make no move toward preventing the prospective strike of 400,000 railway trainmen until after it had been shown that the railroad conference committee of managers and the representatives of railway brotherhoods, meeting in New York on August 8, was unable to harmonize the differences growing out of the demands of the brotherhoods. President Wilson's deep interest in the effort to prevent the big strike was indicated when he sent for Judge William L. Chambers commissioner of the board of mediation and conciliation and asked him to explain the situation in detail. The two other members of the board are Martin A. Knapp and W. W. Hanger.

94 PER CENT FAVOR STRIKE

Heads of the Railway Brotherhoods Announce the Result.

New York, Aug. 9.—At a meeting of the heads of the four great railroad brotherhoods it was announced that about 94 per cent of the trainmen voted in favor of a strike to win an eight hour day, with time and a half for overtime in freight service.

The count represents the decision of about 400,000 railway employes of 225 roads, with a total mileage of about 250,000 miles, or practically every line in the United States.

After listening to the results of the vote, Elisha Lee, head of the railroad managers, was asked by A. B. Garretson, as spokesman for the employes, whether he had any definite proposition to make. Lee replied he had nothing to say; had no authority to make any offer of any kind and that there was nothing to do but adjourn and allow representatives of the railroads to discuss the results of the vote.

It was announced that 98.72 per cent of the engineers in the southwestern district had voted in favor of a strike, 90.35 per cent in the western district and in the eastern district 94.64 per cent. W. S. Carter, head of the firemen's organization, announced that 98.1 per cent of his men had cast their ballots in favor of a strike. W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen's brotherhood, announced a vote of 97 per cent in favor of a strike, and President A. B Garretson of the conductors' organization stated that about 85 per cent of the 34,846 men who voted favored a strike.

Conferences will be held, beginning today, between representatives of the railroads and the employes in an effort to reach an agreement. It was admitted by both sides that there is little possibility of an immediate strike.

MISSOURI COUPLE MARRIED SEVENTY-TWO YEARS

Have Nearly 100 Living Descendants, Among Them Several of Fourth Generation.

Clinton, Mo.—Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nutt of Clinton were married seventy-two years ago in Ohio, the state of their nativity. She is ninety-one and he almost ninety-two years old. After their marriage they spent some time in Illinois.

They have 135 descendants, nearly 100 living, including several great great-granchildren. They are the parents of twelve children.

Nutt has always had poor health, but his wife, despite the fact that a few months ago she slipped on the ice when carrying coal and broke her hip, moves about with the assistance of one crutch.

Since she has not been able to walk so well her fingers have been busy piecing numbers of quilts and quilting them with the dainty stitches only possible to the women of the old school of needlework.

These she has on sale. She only uses her glasses to sew and read with. Since Mr. Nutt retired from his business—stock raising—he has kept busy with odd jobs and until this season had a garden that was the pride of Clinton. Not enjoying an idle moment, he also begged his neighbors to let him help with theirs.

When they were married Nutt made but $13 a month.

GIRL HIDDEN TO AVOID WITCH.

Parents Keep Daughter Locked Up For Three Months.

Green Castle, Pa.—Neighbors of a family named Keller, who moved to this city from the country near the mountains some months ago, had observed that a daughter, aged twenty-one, had been missing since Easter. Inquiries met with evasive answers.

The rumors spread, the stories became magnified, and recently a constable was called and sent to the house. He demanded that the daughter, if locked in an upstairs room, as the stories had it, must be released at once. After demurring a bit the parents unlocked a door, and the young woman was set free.

She had been penned in the one room since the day after Good Friday. Her parents said they locked her up because she was being bewitched by a hex doctor.

Then he sat down and ate thirty-four dishes of ice cream of the usual size.

GLORIA'S ROMANCE

By Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes

SYNOPSIS.

Pierpont Stafford, banker and railroad magnate, with his sixteen-year-old daughter, Gloria, is wintering at Palm Beach. Gloria is a vivacious, but willful young lady who chafes under the restraining hand of a governess from whom she repeatedly escapes. Her childish capers cause young Doctor Royce to fall in love with her. She steals from her room at night and in an auto plunges into the surf where she leaves the car.

Royce was not the only one in the everglades hunting the estray. Freneau had gone as far as his motor boat would carry him. Then he had found a native Indian with a dugout, a cypress log hollowed. The Indian drove it with a pole. He had heard nothing of Gloria's presence in the thicket, but he promised to guide Freneau to some of the scattered villages.

Meanwhile Dr. Royce, hunting in every direction, had happened upon the home of the Sipes, and had asked about Gloria. Fearing that he had come to demand the return of Gloria's jewels they pretended not to have seen her. But Royce caught a glimpse of Gloria's evening dress, which Mrs. Sipe was trying to hide. He charged the Sipes with deception, probably with murder.

They hastened to confess that they had seen her and helped her on her way in the clothes of a boy. They sent young Sipe to show Royce which way Gloria had gone. Young Sipe, still angry at Gloria and his parents, sent Royce in a false direction, too. He laughed as he saw the crazy stranger in that tattered evening dress playing his blind man's buff, not knowing that rivals were searching the wilderness, and knowing that Gloria was now in Indian servitude.

The young chief, Katcalani, kept watching Gloria. Her whiteness, her delicacy, the unconscious daintiness with which she lifted the crooked faggot from the brushwood, and the luxurious aureole of her hair in the Florida sun, made him frantic to call her his own. He beckoned her to follow him and led her to a distance where the shambling, dusky women of his tribe could not see him bow his turbaned head to the chalk-faced squaw.

Gloria hoped that the peculiar person was going to help her to escape, and she followed him with only a little fear. But he paused and began to declare his passion with all an Indian's eloquence.

His dialect was crude, but his emotion was fierce. He compared her with the most graceful palm, with the rarest orchids. He said that the sunrise was in her hair and the stars in her eyes. He compared himself with the great warrior Osceola, who had slain so many whites. He offered to kill all the white men in Florida to please her. He spoke of his wealth. His turban had a sliver band made out of four silver dollars. He had a gold watch, sixteen handkerchiefs, and eighteen shirts. He had six of them on. Gloria should have his grandmother's forty pounds of beads to wear—she should be a queen and she would not have to plow.

Gloria had often dreamed of her first proposal of marriage. This was it. It did not accord with her dreams. She was disgusted, aghast, afraid. She could think of nothing to do.

She caught sight of the dagger that Katcalani wore in his belt. In a sick horror of her fate she snatched it from him. She had not the courage to kill herself, or him, but she gave him the knife and begged him to plunge it into her heart. Katcalani glared at her in a frenzy of humiliation and wrath. Then the child-woman wavered on her tired feet and suddenly dropped to the ground in a dead faint.

Katcalani's rolling eyes made out a startling vision. Dick Freneau was standing before him. The Indian guide had put him ashore near the village and was waiting for him to make inquiries. Freneau had pushed through the palmettos just in time to see Gloria swoon. He recognized her by her fair skin and her bright hair. He approached Katcalani to claim her and the reward.

But the young chief was in no mood for a parley. He gnashed his teeth and threatened Freneau with such bloodthirsty fury, that Freneau fell back. He felt his hair rise and his scalp already going. He retreated in such haste that Katcalani did not pursue him far. He stood watching for him to reappear.

Meanwhile, by another roundabout land path, Dr. Royce had found the Seminole village. He saw Gloria where she lay on the ground. He thought her some young Indian maiden asleep. He paused to wake her and ask if she had seen Gloria. He saw that she was Gloria.

Before he could stoop to lift her he saw Katcalani turn and stare. The Indian had a knife in his hand. He had put one white man to flight: he charged on this other. But Royce did not fall back. He advanced. He was half mad with his night's wandering and he was afraid of nothing. With his bare hands he went straight into the fight.

AUTO RACES HELP GOOD ROADS WORK

SPEEDWAYS RESPONSIBLE FOR BIG IMPROVEMENTS IN HIGHWAYS.

All Hamilton County, Ohio, Roads Are Being Improved For Big Race On Labor Day.

As a stimulus to road building and improving, the motor speedways in various parts of the country seem to be playing a decidedly prominent part. Evidence of this fact is found in the experience of the managers of the new Cincinnati Speedway, which is to be inaugurated with a 300-mile, $30,000 race under the auspices of the A. A. A. on Labor Day, September 4, in connection with the big event. As soon as work had progressed sufficiently far on the new two-mile course to make it certain that the inaugural would take place as scheduled, the County Commissioners of Hamilton County, in which Cincinnati is located, immediately began a resurvey of the various roads leading to the Speedway, ascertaining just what improvements were needed to place these highways in the best possible touring condition for the big event. When the necessary data had been secured contracts were let for the improvement, and the work now is being pushed as rapidly as possible in order that all Hamilton county roads leading to the speedway will be in first class condition by September 1.

Advices received from various sections on the Dixie Highway also bring assurances of activity in the improvement line, due to a desire on the part of hundreds of motorists in the South to tour along the Highway to Cincinnati for the big race and for the Dixie Highway convention and exposition which will be held in Cincinnati from September 1 to 9.

BULL CHASES AUTO.

Owner Drove Machine Around a Field Until Animal Was Tired.

Federalsburg, Md.—Twiford Williams, a farmer living near here, had a thrilling experience with an infuriated bull. Williams ran his motor car into a field to look over the bull, which he was contemplating buying. The bull made a dash for the machine. Williams quickly turned on all the power the car contained and the machine shot away at a fifty mile an hour clip, but when it reached the gate leading out of the field Williams could not make the turn at such high speed.

The bull chased him around the field repeatedly and made desperate attempts to head off the car, but Williams, by carefully manipulating the steering wheel, managed to elude the beast, which finally became tired and gave the frightened man a chance to escape through the gate.

MADE FISH COOL; HOOKED 'EM.

Dropped Ice In Weeds, and In Short Time Captured Bass.

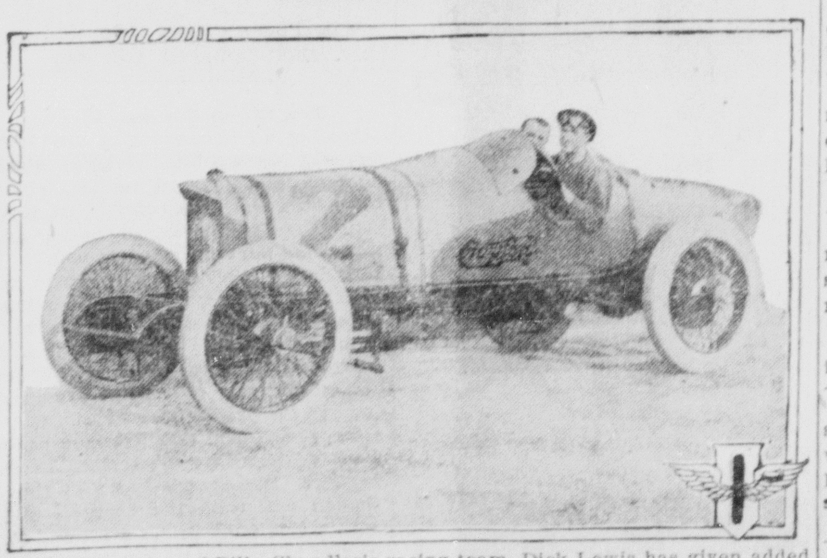

Rochester, N. Y.—Hibbard Raymond of the Lake Keuka Fishing club has discovered a new way to catch black bass in hot weather.

"Bass feel the hot weather as much as we do," he said, "so I planned to make a place for them to cool off in and then catch them out of it.

"I took a cake of ice and dropped it in the weeds in the rocky cove off Fish point. Two hours later I drifted by the spot with golden shiners on my hooks and captured two bass, one two and one-half and the other three pounds. I wheeled around and snagged a four pounder. A few minutes later I had caught eight nice bass. The cool water is refreshing to the bass and sharpens their appetites."

Tiffin, O.—A bolt of lightning struck the chimney of the H. W. McFerren house in Tiffin during a heavy electrical storm recently. The bolt did not disturb either the brick or the plaster, but followed the chimney to the interior of the house, where it struck a clock on a mantelpiece and scattered the wheels and other workings all over the floor. There was no other damage.

COST OF CLEANING COLUMBUS STREETS

At the present time, with deep interest centered on flushing and keeping the city's paved streets in a cleanly condition, the cost of street cleaning in other cities is of general interest, and from Mr. John A. Worrell, of this city, figures are obtained showing the cost of sprinkling and sweeping in Columbus.

Mr. Worrell owns property on Dennison and Star avenues, Columbus, and has the figures showing cost of sprinkling and sweeping twice each week for a period of twelve months, on Dennison avenue.

Dennison avenue is 36 feet in width and Mr. Worrell's lot is 35 foot front, and the cost was $2.07. Until a few years ago the street was cleaned three times each week, but two cleanings were found sufficient.

On Star avenue, a 40 foot street, he owns a 40 foot lot, and the street is cleaned once each week. The cleaning costs $1.36 per year.

Mr. Worrell states the streets are kept clean and sanitary with the cleanings given.

WHEAT PRICE SHOOTS UP

Crop Damage Reports Given as Cause of Phenominal Rise.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Chicago, August 9. — At tip top prices of today's session of the Board of Trade, wheat showed an advance of 11¾ cents a bushel over night, owing to millions of bushels in domestic crop losses and because of further losses indicated in Canada.

Wildness of buying by wheat traders today exceeded any similar display since the outbreak of the European war.

After midday the fever to buy grew more intense, and the market soared to 10 cents a bushel above yesterday's close, December wheat touching $1.47.

Just before the close, a fresh bulge in the market brought prices up to nearly 12 cents advance in some cases.

Chicago, August 9. — Wheat prices shot upward eight cents a bushel today at the opening of the wheat market.

The December option touched $1.45 on first trading, as against $1.37 at yesterday's finish.

Sensational crop damage confirmed by the Government report was the cause of the extraordinary advance.

So much excitement ruled in the pit that transactions in many cases were 3 cents apart at the same instant.

The initial range on December varied from $1.42 to $1.45.

Property Damage Great.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Huntington, W. Va., August 9.—Officials of the Acme Coal Company this afternoon denied that 100 residents of Acme, W. Va., a coal mining village, had been drowned when a cloudburst swept down the Cabin Creek valley this morning.

Rumors of large loss of life, however, were persistent here. Property loss in the valley, it is said, will exceed a million dollars.

Six bridges on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway are reported to have been washed out, and in a number of places the tracks are said to have been swept from the right of way.

The Kanawha & Michigan and other roads in the valley also suffered heavily.

Wire communication with the Cabin Creek valley district is practically paralyzed.

The "Tired Business Man."

Are not all business men tired? If not, why do we hear so much about musical comedies and vaudeville performances that are constructed especially for the purpose of resting and refreshing the tired business man?

If there is any one claim that has been conceded for ages past it is this: Fatigue is much more fatal to a man than to a woman. We seldom hear of a tired washerwoman or a tired housekeeper. Nobody ever wrote a musical comedy for tired schoolmarms. It has always been held that if a man has to work at night he must sleep in the daytime. But everybody knows that a woman can walk the floor all night with a sick baby in her arms and still be able to perform strenuous household duties next day. "Man's work is from sun to sun"—that being the limit of his endurance.—Southern Woman's Magazine.

FIGHTING THE HESSIAN FLY

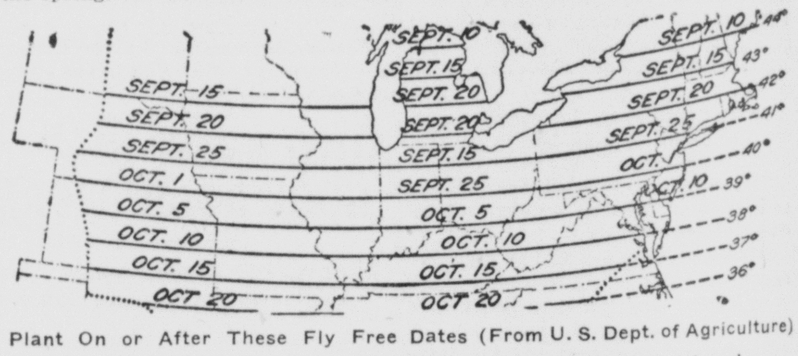

THE LIFE OF THE HESSIAN FLY (From the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture)

The life history of the Hessian Fly is shown above. The life of the adult fly is but a few days, probably but a week or less, and the great mass of the flies will appear at about the same time. If the wheat is sown after the flies appear by the time the wheat is up they will be gone and the plants escape the attacks of the fly.

Experiment stations urge you to sow wheat late in order to escape the Hessian Fly. Experience has taught you that the best yields are secured from plants that enter the winter with strong, healthy growth.

Solve this Problem by seeding late and hastening the fall growth by the use of 200 to 400 pounds of fertilizer containing 2% to 3% of available ammonia. Acid phosphate alone will not give the necessary, quick, strong, healthy growth. If the fly does not happen to be present this year, the good effects upon both the wheat and the grass seeded with the wheat, will repay many times the cost of the added ammonia. You cannot afford to be without this Fly Insurance.

Read Farmers' Bulletin 640 (U. S. Dept. of Agriculture) which says: "The application broadcast of some quick-acting fertilizer containing a large percentage of phosphate, made as soon as general infestation is apparent will cause the plants to tiller more freely and give them sufficient vigor to withstand the winter, and thus increase the number of healthy stems the following spring.* * * * While it may seem 'far fetched' to bring forward as a preventive measure the enrichment of the soil, a fertile soil will produce plants that will withstand with little injury attacks that will prove disastrous to plants growing on an impoverished or thin soil. This is because a fertile soil will enable an infested plant to tiller freely, and these tillers will have sufficient vitality to withstand the winter and send up head-producing stems in the spring."

Plant On or After These Fly Free Dates (From U. S. Dept. of Agriculture)

If drought prevails, the seeding date should be longer delayed

SPIKING THE GUNS.

When the Old Fashioned Muzzle Loading Cannon Were In Use.

Did you ever remark when you had cleverly blocked the game of your opponent that you had "spiked the guns for the enemy," and then did you wonder why you had thus characterized the action? That it signifies "to put the guns out of commission, so that the enemy is prevented from turning his fire upon us," is obvious. But what has the spike to do with it? In the modern breech loading cannon there is no kind of spiking that would do much damage to the enemy's guns.

It is understood, of course, that this crippling of the foe is provided in advance, when our own guns are about to be captured. It is bad enough to be shot to pieces by the enemy's artillery, but it is doubly distressing to have our own turned upon us.

The old fashioned cannon was a muzzle loader, the powder and ball being introduced at the end opposite the breech. Just above the place where the charge of powder was located there was a hole in the cannon, so that a cap for discharging the powder could be introduced. This percussion cap was set off by means of a lanyard, which the artilleryman pulled. When it was certain that the cannon was going to be captured the hole for the introduction of the percussion cap was closed by means of a spike driven in, which would have to be drilled out before the gun could be used.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.
